Youth Shot Hunting Near Duncan

N. Lomas Victim Of Accident In Maple Bay Area

R. McDonald, His Hunting Companion, Held by Police After Fatality This Morning; Lomas Was Son of Former Indian Agent at Duncan.

Special to The Times
Duncan, Nov. 17.—Norman Lomas, eighteen, son of Alfred H. Lomas, former Indian agent here, is dead, and Roland McDonald, son of J. C. McDonald of Duncan, is held by police following a shooting accident in the woods near Maple Bay this morning.

The two youths were hunting companions, having left Duncan early this morning to search for deer, it was learned. The body of Lomas was brought back here for an inquest tomorrow morning.

Provincial Police received word of the tragedy at 9:40 o'clock and Corporal Mustard, with Constable Lashmar and Game Warden Marshall, accompanied by Corporal H. P. Swan, left for the scene, just off Herd Road. They found McDonald with the dead youth who had been shot through the abdomen with a rifle bullet.

According to the story of the tragedy learned by the police, McDonald and Lomas had separated in the woods. McDonald, it is stated, thought he saw a deer and called out to Lomas, who replied: "It is thought McDonald mistook the direction from which Lomas's voice had come and fired at the object he saw. He then found Lomas dead."

Norman Gibson, sixteen, 222 Menzies Street, Gaining in Fight For Life

Handle Flew From Revolving Motor and Struck Youth on Head

Waging a fight for life, after an accident which fractured his skull, Norman Gibson, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gibson, 222 Menzies Street, was reported fairly comfortable in St. Joseph's Hospital this afternoon.

The boy was struck on the head by a crank handle, which flew from an automobile engine being tested by several youths at the home of F. A. Winterburn, 563 Marfield Avenue, Saturday afternoon. The handle struck just above the ear and fractured the skull.

An operation was performed by Dr. Gordon Kenning shortly after the youth was admitted to hospital and he regained consciousness during the evening.

Several boys were standing near the engine when the crank broke loose; flew through the air, and hit young Gibson, it was learned. The engine was to have been used for a wood-sawing outfit, and had been raised on a wooden structure for testing purposes. When the motor was started, the crank struck in mesh with it and was whirled around, finally being thrown off toward the boy, who was standing several feet away.

BULLETS FLY DURING RIOTS IN BARCELONA

Barcelona, Spain, Nov. 17.—A general strike commenced here this morning with shooting and disorders in the streets. Mobs attacked street cars and busses. Business and industry quickly shut down.

The strike developed here as that at Madrid ended. It grew out of the walk-out of transport and construction workers seeking higher wages.

CRASH VICTIM BURIED TO-DAY

of 1593 Bay Street, who was killed in an automobile crash on the Sooke Highway early last Thursday morning. Mr. Lidstone is shown here in his army uniform as a corporal in the 23rd Battalion, R.C.I.F. He joined up at the outbreak of the war and served until the Armistice, spending a long time in France. The funeral was held this afternoon.

Several boys were standing near the engine when the crank broke loose; flew through the air, and hit young Gibson, it was learned. The engine was to have been used for a wood-sawing outfit, and had been raised on a wooden structure for testing purposes. When the motor was started, the crank struck in mesh with it and was whirled around, finally being thrown off toward the boy, who was standing several feet away.

Unsatisfactory Trial and Unfavorable Weather May Halt Transatlantic Plan

World's Biggest Plane to Fly From Bordeaux to Corunna, Spain, To-morrow

Bordeaux, France, Nov. 17.—Zeeling is growing here that the flight of the DO-X, giant German flying boat, across the Atlantic will not be attempted until next spring.

In aviation circles it is declared the motors of the plane have not functioned as well as had been hoped and that the ship's chief pilot and crew are too well aware of the increasingly unsatisfactory weather conditions from this date on to risk such a hazardous trip when the short flight from Calais to England, to Bordeaux was not accomplished without mishap. It is pointed out that although the ship was designed to fly 125 miles an hour, it has not yet averaged 100.

Dr. Claude Dornier, designer and builder of the craft, the world's largest plane, insists the flight has not been abandoned, but that a definite decision will be made at Lisbon, Portugal, from where the plane was scheduled to take off for Horta, Azores, first stop on the projected transatlantic flight by way of Bermuda to New York.

Street cars, busses and taxis were running early in the morning, but it appeared a shortage of gasoline would force many motor vehicles to leave the passing of the hours.

First Atlantic Plane Passenger In Vienna Jail

Vienna, Nov. 17.—Charles A. Levine, United States aviation enthusiast and business man, was arrested here to-day. He will be formally charged to-morrow with an alleged gigantic fraud perpetrated in Vienna.

POLICE NOW GUARD MARY PICKFORD'S ADOPTED NIECE

Beverly Hills, Calif., Nov. 17.—The Beverly Hills police to-day disclosed a police escort had been provided for Mary Pickford's adopted niece following threats to kidnap the child. A policeman who guarded the little girl to and from school last Friday did so again to-day.

WORLD'S GREATEST GOLFER TO RETIRE FROM COMPETITIONS

BOBBY JONES

New York, Nov. 17.—Robert T. Jones Jr., champion of golf championships and holder of all the major titles of the United States and Great Britain, to-day announced his retirement from competition.

Jones, having no more worlds to conquer in the royal and ancient sport, made known his decision in a statement issued on his behalf through Herbert H. Ramsay, executive vice-president of the United States Golf Association.

Jones, in his statement, announced he had signed a contract, November 13 with Warner Bros., motion picture firm, to make a series of twelve one-reel films, "purely educational in character."

Jones declared flatly he had no intention whatever of turning professional, explaining he was prompted to retire from the competitive field because he was convinced his motion picture contract conflicted with the spirit, if not the actual letter of the amateur rule.

He did not specifically refer to whether he would continue, at any time, in open golf play, but indicated he was through altogether with championships.

NEW FEDERAL SYSTEM FOR INDIA URGED

Sir Tej Sapru and Maharajah of Bikaner Address Conference in London

Equality With Other Nations of Commonwealth Declared Indians' Demand

London, Nov. 17.—In a pea soup fog, which penetrated even the recesses of St. James's Palace, the India Round-Table Conference convened for its first real working session this forenoon.

The locale was the Queen Anne Drawing-room, where the Naval Conference opened last January. When Premier Ramsay MacDonald, chairman of the conference, took his seat, there were 180 persons in the room, of whom eighty-six were delegates and the remainder secretaries, but the appearance of the two gatherings, save for the turbanned Indians, was much the same.

Mr. MacDonald, at home in the British weather, walked to the Palace from No. 10 Downing Street, but the Indians, used to a warmer climate, came in great coats and caps, appearing thoroughly chilled.

RULES FOR SESSIONS
The first business put before the conference by the committee of sixteen named to assist Premier MacDonald in the conduct of the sessions included the question whether the sittings should be public or private.

Paris, Nov. 17.—Raoul Peret, Minister of Justice in the French cabinet, who had been under severe criticism in the Chamber of Deputies, resigned to-day.

BROKEN ELECTRIC WIRE BRINGS INSTANT DEATH TO NEWSPAPER CARRIER

Fatality List Here For Week Unusually Large

After a year fairly free of major accidents, an unusual wave of violent deaths has swept over Victoria and vicinity in the last week. Four people have been killed and others have been seriously injured in mishaps of one sort and another.

The victims:
John H. Heisterman, 915 St. Charles Street, killed last Tuesday in collision between car and motorcycle.

William Lidstone, 1593 Bay Street, killed Thursday in collision of car and pole.

Elizabeth Leylander, 847 Esquimalt Road, killed Thursday in collision of car and pole.

Jack Thorburn, 2121 Spring Road, electrocuted Sunday at Cadboro Bay by live wire.

Those injured were:
Miss Jean Bruce, 339 Kerr Avenue, broken ribs.

Norman Gibson, 222 Menzies Street, fractured skull.

Mrs. Dorothy Price, 3471 "S" Street, fractured hip.

While these fatalities have been happening, dragging operations have continued in the Inner Harbor for the body of Bobby Duncan, 45 Erie Street, who was drowned on November 2.

PRICE CUT ON GASOLINE IN VANCOUVER

Motorists Buy Fuel at Many Stations To-day at 28 Cents a Gallon

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 17.—Price cutting among gasoline service stations in the downtown section of Vancouver is in progress again. It started over the week-end and is chiefly confined to the section east of Granville Street, between Burrard Inlet and False Creek.

Prices dropped another two cents from the thirty-cent minimum set by most of the stations two weeks ago and to-day many stations were selling at twenty-eight cents a gallon, including the five-cent government tax.

Wholesalers are still holding aloof from the conflict and refusing to bring down the tank wagon price, which has been firm at twenty-three cents plus the five-cent tax for many months. They say there is no chance of the wholesale price coming down.

PAST THEIR DOORS
Meanwhile owners of gasoline service stations in the outlying sections of the city are watching their regular patrons drive past their doors to refuel at the cheaper stations in town.

Mr. Macdonald, at home in the British weather, walked to the Palace from No. 10 Downing Street, but the Indians, used to a warmer climate, came in great coats and caps, appearing thoroughly chilled.

THE MATTER WAS BROUGHT UP IN THE following letter to the chamber from Beaumont Boggs:

"Would it not be in order for your body to take the initiative and call a meeting of all those interested in the industry and people's claim upon the Dominion Government, through Mr. Rhodes, for payment of the sealing claims?"

Speaking on the letter, C. L. Harrison stated Victoria had had a magnificent industry in sealing. It had been taken away from the city without compensation. The United States and Japanese governments compensated their men, he said, but Canada, to date, had not done so.

CHINA WARMLY WELCOMES CANADIAN TRADE MISSION

Shanghai, China, Nov. 17.—The trade delegation to the Orient of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce has been warmly entertained since its arrival here Sunday after its tour of Japan.

The North China News gave a newspaper welcome by issuing a special Canadian supplement containing a twenty-page photographic section.

A committee of twenty persons representing the Chinese Republic, the city of Shanghai, the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, the British Chamber of Commerce and the British Consulate received the delegates on arrival.

John Thorburn, Fifteen, 2121 Spring Road, Killed By Electrical Current From Wire Yesterday Morning; Body Found With Newspaper Bag and Bicycle and Live Wire Near By; Line Brought Down by Falling Tree Limb, Company Officials Say.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

JOHN THORBURN

who was instantly killed when he touched a live electric wire at Cadboro Bay yesterday.

JUDGE KILLED IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—Municipal Judge E. V. Rosenkrantz, forty, was killed today by a car when he was home to court. Slippery streets resulted in his car skidding into another at Third Street and Norton Avenue. The jurist was thrown out and his neck was broken.

PAYMENT OF SEAL CLAIMS SOUGHT HERE

Commerce Body to Request Action Through Hon. W. Rhodes, Fisheries Minister

Want, Dominion Government to Pay Money to Old Sealers and Descendants Here

Representatives from the Chamber of Commerce will approach Hon. W. Rhodes, Federal Minister of Fisheries, on his visit here on Thursday to seek action on the payment of sealing claims long owed by the Dominion Government to sealers and their descendants in Victoria, it was decided at the directors' meeting in the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

The matter was brought up in the following letter to the chamber from Beaumont Boggs:

"Would it not be in order for your body to take the initiative and call a meeting of all those interested in the industry and people's claim upon the Dominion Government, through Mr. Rhodes, for payment of the sealing claims?"

Speaking on the letter, C. L. Harrison stated Victoria had had a magnificent industry in sealing. It had been taken away from the city without compensation. The United States and Japanese governments compensated their men, he said, but Canada, to date, had not done so.

BANKS GIVE AID IN WHEAT PRICE BATTLE

Three Prairie Premiers Confer With Presidents in Toronto and Report Success

Premiers Will Ask Ottawa to Take Action to Peg Wheat Prices

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 17.—Successful interviews with banking authorities in Toronto in regard to the wheat price situation were reported this afternoon following conferences held by the three prairie premiers. The visiting premiers pointed to the increase in wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day as an indication of the more confident feeling on the plains in regard to the situation.

When Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan and Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta arrived here this morning, they immediately proceeded to the head office of the Bank of Commerce and met banking authorities.

"When wheat reaches sixty cents," Premier Brownlee stated, "it means that with shipping costs, threshing and elevator storage, the actual price to the farmer is more like thirty cents a bushel."

"We have got to have the economic structure of Western Canada," said Premier Bracken. "There is no time to go deeply into the reasons for the condition. It is a matter for immediate action."

"We will see every bank in Toronto to-day, and to-morrow we hope to meet Federal officials at Ottawa. We have no intention of being received unfavorably or otherwise."

With the right hand practically burned off, the body of John Thorburn, fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorburn, 2121 Spring Road, was found beside a live wire near the Cadboro Bay Hotel yesterday morning. The boy was a newspaper carrier and his bicycle was lying on top of the body.

An inquest will be held to-morrow morning at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, at 10 o'clock.

Whether the boy attempted to clear away the wire from his path and took hold of it, or ran into it while traveling on his bicycle, was unknown, although the fact that his hand was burned indicated he may have tried to move the dangerous object.

LYING ON ROAD
The gruesome discovery was made by S. Allison, 1010 Pandora Avenue, and his son, G. M. Allison, who were on their way to Ten Mile Point about 7:50 o'clock in the morning. They found the lad as he died, with his newspaper bag and bicycle, lying just outside the doorway of a garage at the road side.

B.C. Electric Railway Company officials said this morning the wire was brought down by a rotted limb which fell from a tree nearby across the line. A. T. Goward, vice-president, expressed deep regret over the unfortunate occurrence.

RIGHT HAND BURNED
Chief of Police Allan Rankin of Saanich, and Patrol Driver S. Wilkinson, of the Victoria force, attended the scene of the accident in response to a message from Mr. Allison.

Police found the boy had a glove on his left hand, but apparently did not have anything on his right hand, which was burned. There was no trace of a glove or any covering material on that hand.

After Coroner E. C. Hart had been notified, the body was removed to McCall's for the inquest.

POPULAR BOY
The death of young Thorburn was keenly felt in school to-day, as the boy was a popular favorite, especially in the athletic field. Principal Ira Dilworth of the Victoria High School, where the lad was a student, expressed his personal regret and sympathy with the bereaved parents. Besides being a fine student, John was active in football, baseball and rugby, and had made his mark in many sports. Before going to the High School he was a pupil at George Jay School.

John was the eldest of a family of seven, having five brothers and one sister. He had celebrated his fifteenth birthday in December.

An Estate on the "instalment plan"

NO longer do young people wait until they can pay completely for their comforts, before entering into enjoyment of them. They have learned to plan their finances ahead . . . to buy "out of income".

Wisely and conservatively used, instalment-buying is a benefit. But, in excess, it may easily encourage obligations which prove difficult to meet and which, in event of a sudden reduction or cessation of income, may mean calamity.

There is, however, one form of instalment-buying which is always wise and safe . . . the purchase of Life Insurance.

Life Insurance becomes an asset which never depreciates. It can be made to take care of your needs. It will protect your home and loved ones after you are gone. It covers the obligations which your other instalment purchases may incur. And the "instalments" are cancelled at your death.

In the planning of every family budget, Life Insurance deserves the place of honor. It is the only certain way of buying an estate "on the instalment plan". Any Life Insurance representative will gladly explain its advantages.

GARVIN GIVES VIEWS ON EMPIRE CONFERENCE

London, Nov. 17.—The Imperial Conference was saved from becoming a mere wheat question, the Conference re-total fiasco, thanks to the tenacious pluck and good sense of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, who made a real fight at the end of the conference, and to the steady statesmanship of the Dominion Premiers, especially that of Mr. Bennett. The rest of the conference were virtually spectators.

The Observer, however, looked forward to a successful outcome when the Conference meets again in Ottawa. The Sunday Times of London launched a sharp assault on the British Government's whole attitude in connection with the economic issue. "The government's attitude," said The Times, "has been one of chicken-hearted delay. It may be that Mr. Bennett's proposals, as they stood, did not admit of acceptance, but that was no reason for refusing them out of hand."

The first successful parachute jump of which there is record was made in 1787, in Strassburg, by a man named Blanchard.

Aside from a few African species, the 100 known forms of cactus are restricted to America.

BARRIE HAILED AS LUCKY TOWN, NODDLE WORRY

Barrie, Nov. 17.—Unemployment is a non-existent bogey in the Simcoe county town of Barrie, according to its mayor, William McCuaig, who states that "any man who wants work can get it" and that "half the men on the list of unemployment in town are retired farmers who do not need work."

Barrie, he said, is the most prosperous town in Simcoe county, and for its size, possibly in the province. Not without effort has this happy state of affairs been achieved. Over $30,000 have been spent on paving, undertaken solely with the hope of providing work to men in the town needing it, and without a "single penny of government help."

Further expenditure up to $20,000, in which the Federal and Provincial Governments are expected to help, is being planned to take care of the 150 men at present employed in the construction of the first co-operative packers plant, completion of which is expected within a few weeks, and of the seventy-five men employed in the nearly completed paving.

"There will be very little or no unemployment in Barrie this winter," explained Mr. McCuaig, "except for the usual quota of unemployable and won't-workers. We like to have a few families that we feed every winter, rain or shine, as a matter of course."

According to Deputy Reeve J. R. Rodgers, Barrie's good fortune is largely attributed to the fact that she is not a manufacturing town and so is not subject to the varying fortunes of industry. The three plants in the town—two canneries and one shoe factory—are old reliables and seldom suffer from the flux and change of the economic barometer.

"Every man in Barrie can find work if he wants," said he, agreeing with the mayor. "But I am not saying for just how long this will be so."

Mr. J. Lowe, chairman of the board of works, believes that unemployment will not be a serious problem in the town this winter. It has been looked after so far, he declares. "Of the 150 men I had on my list as wanting work, nearly all now have it. New projects we are planning will keep them at it. Barrie is all right."

TWO MEN HELD FOR WOUNDING OF CONSTABLE

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 17.—After a desperate struggle in the shadow of a water tower in the railway yard south of this city at noon yesterday, two men, charged with the shooting of Constable F. R. Healey here last Friday night, were arrested by Constable Cecil Mears of the C.N.R. police, assisted by seven citizens.

The men taken into custody were "Bill" Hetherington, with a criminal record known to all Canadian police authorities, and a man giving the name of George Hamilton Fuller.

In the backpacks of the two were found ammunition for a .32 calibre automatic pistol, which was later identified as having been stolen from the Cooper hardware store here, where Constable Healey was shot four times Friday night in trying to arrest two burglars.

Constable Healey at last reports was making good progress toward recovery.

Constable Mears almost paid with his life for interfering with the two men. Mears says that Fuller, armed with a .32 calibre automatic, shot him in the chest, and that he was shot Mears. With the assistance of several other men, Fuller was finally overpowered by Mears. Hetherington, who came to his friend's assistance, was clouted over the head with a shovel. He ran away, but was captured by Mears after a two-mile chase along the railway tracks and across open fields.

The men were held on technical charges of trespassing for appearance in police court to-day.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE FACTOR AT CONFERENCE

Glasgow, Scotland, Nov. 17.—Rt. Hon. William Graham, president of the Board of Trade in an address Saturday at a private meeting of Labor members of parliament declared Great Britain had her South American trade in mind in turning down proposals for a tariff on foodstuffs during the Imperial Conference.

"The United Kingdom," he said, "was asked to import wheat, and asked to import foodstuffs without any immediate advantage in sight, and probably for no ultimate advantage."

He said one-third of Great Britain's trade was with Europe, one-third with foreign countries in other parts of the world and one-third within the Empire. He declared there was not the slightest doubt that imposition of a tariff on imported food would have a dangerous repercussion on at least two-thirds of the British trade, and particularly on a large volume of South American trade.

DO-X BILLS AT CALSHOT WERE $5,000

London, Nov. 17.—Although the German flying boat, Do-X, was greeted by the public as Great Britain's guest, The London Daily Herald to-day said its officers were presented with a bill for $5,000 for services rendered at Calshot before the plane started for Bordeaux.

"The Germans were to some extent guests of the Dutch when in their waters," the Labor paper said. "They will be guests also of the French, Spanish, Portuguese, and Americans, as their waters. But not so here. Every service was charged against the visitor. Every boat that went out to the craft, every telephone call was charged, even the boats that took the Air Force men and their wives to inspect the ship had to be paid for."

The paper added that officers and crew, at Calshot, were "treated as guests" by the Germans, but had little power to make their desires effective.

FERGUSON IS MENTIONED FOR LONDON POST

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Nov. 17.—The post of High Commissioner of Canada in Great Britain has not been filled," stated Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, in an interview over the weekend when a rumor that Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, had accepted the post was brought to Mr. Bennett's attention.

The probabilities, it is authoritative, are that the vacancy will not be filled until after the Prime Minister's return to Canada, and he has had time to discuss the matter with the cabinet.

Mr. Ferguson's name has been repeatedly mentioned in connection with the appointment. During his visit here the Ontario Premier stayed at the same hotel as did Mr. Bennett and his colleagues of the Canadian delegation to the Imperial Conference. Mr. Ferguson left for Canada last Friday on board the liner Empress of Australia.

The rumor of his appointment was so strong, indeed, that Mr. Ferguson one day received a letter requesting an appointment at Canada House, the applicants having the impression the Ontario Premier had already been named to the commission.

Expectations are the appointment will not be announced until early in December.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS EARNINGS

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Earnings of the Sherwin-Williams Company of Canada Limited, for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1930, amounted to $784,732, compared with $1,006,936 for the previous year, according to a report issued to-day. Net earnings totaled $390,127 or $1.95 on common stock outstanding against $2.95 earned last year.

PILSUDSKI IN CONTROL OF NEW POLISH HOUSE

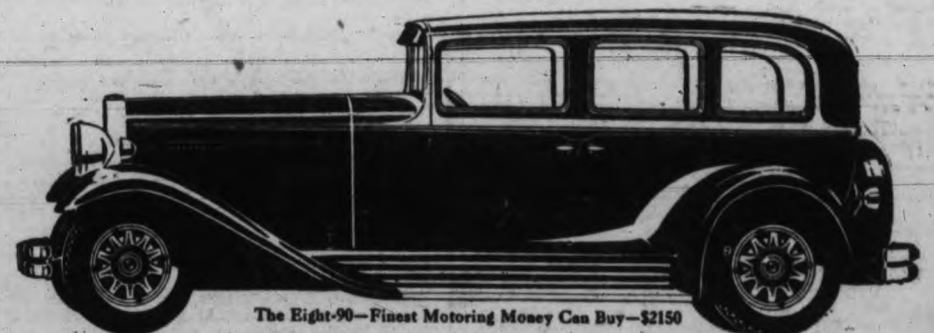

Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 17.—Nearly complete returns from yesterday's parliamentary election to-day indicated Marshal Pilsudski's government bloc had attained a good clear majority in the Sejm, but not the two-thirds majority which he sought in order to amend the constitution.

The government parties secured 247 seats, against 118 they held in the old Parliament. The new body also will contain seventy-two National Democrats, sixty-two Ukrainians and White Russians, twenty-one Christian Democrats (Korantysts), thirteen Jews, seven Germans and five Communists.

Italy is standardizing trade practices and production.

A CASE FOR CO-ORDINATION

by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor for meeting certain conditions which are emphasized by the large number of idle people in the world have been favorably commented upon in many quarters. Among the more important of them are the following:

STABILIZATION OF INDUSTRY. The council proposes that there should be comprehensive planning by an advisory body representative of all production and consumer groups. This advisory body should be a national economic council and undertake to secure the co-operation of voluntary associations and governmental agencies in carrying out the effort.

USE OF PUBLIC WORKS TO MEET CYCLICAL UNEMPLOYMENT. The best way to inject new activity on a large enough scale to have appreciable effect is to speed up the construction of public works.

SPECIAL STUDY OF TECHNOLOGICAL UNEMPLOYMENT. The council point out the need for basic knowledge with regard to the displacement of workers by machinery. The council recommend that the President of the United States be asked to arrange for a special study of technological unemployment and related problems.

STUDY OF RELIEF PROPOSALS. The council urge that industries that have the problem of seasonal unemployment should work out plans to take care of employees during seasonal periods of unemployment.

Although it thinks the more short-sighted employers may look askance at these proposals as tending to impose new burdens on industry, The Toronto Star considers them statesmanlike, and says the employing class will not find it easy to bring along alternative proposals that more readily commend themselves to unbiased persons.

Our eastern contemporary also declares that "the forces of production and distribution in capitalist countries must be co-ordinated under more intelligent direction if competition with Russia in the future is to be met on anything like equal terms and social unrest at home to be allayed."

At the present time it is estimated there are between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 workers who have nothing to do. Together with their dependents, the total involved probably would be somewhere near 50,000,000. Systems of unemployment insurance in ten countries cover 43,000,000 workers. How many insured workers are receiving benefits we do not know; but if Germany is any guide, we may take it that several millions are drawing payments, since of that country's three million idle, 2,500,000 are on benefit pay.

ILL LUCK IN LABRADOR

"ONE OF THE GREAT HUMANITARIAN adventures of the twentieth century" is a description applied to the work which Sir Wilfred and Lady Grenfell for years have been doing in Labrador. We were reminded of this the other day when the news reached us that the hospital at Battle Harbor had been destroyed by fire.

In that part of the continent in which these two noble souls have ministered to all who have needed their assistance it is difficult to wrest a living from the soil. For the most part people have to look to their traps and their nets to eke out an existence. Only a few weeks ago, incidentally, came the report that along a considerable stretch of the coast little return would be obtained from the crops, while the codfishery this year appears to be the worst for many a day.

The Grenfells have been largely responsible for the organization of services by which something like 30,000 people receive medical, educational, spiritual and material assistance. All this, of course, has meant the collection of much money; and it has not been a simple matter by any means. The recent destruction of the hospital building, although a light in the sky reminding us of a fine work in that inhospitable region, will bring new difficulties in its wake.

MR. HERTZOG KEPT HIS HEAD

IT IS INTERESTING TO RECALL, NOW the Imperial Conference is over, that Premier Hertzog of South Africa was the only Premier who did not hint at the break-up of the empire if he did not have his own way. On the contrary, he declared that before going to London the South African delegation had realized the United Kingdom had particular views on the tariff question, and these views had been reached after consideration of what the British government believed to be in the best interests of its own country.

It must be rather disquieting for supporters of Mr. Bennett in Canada to reflect that Mr. Hertzog, whom many of them call a rebel, refused to join in the move to stampede Britain into a revolution in her fiscal policy.

Political leadership in South Africa apparently has furnished Mr. Hertzog with a clear conception of the rights and responsibilities which partnership in the empire entails. He has very definite views on the course he thinks his own country should be free to pursue; but it is obvious he does not consider one Dominion has a right to attempt to dictate the policies of another.

A BIG INDUSTRY

ALTHOUGH COMPARATIVELY FEW people give thought to golf as an industry, a writer in a recent issue of The Saturday Evening Post discusses the pastime from this point of view, and describes its development in the United States to show how potent an economic factor the game really is—as well as a fine recreation.

That writer puts the number of golfers in the republic at a little more than two millions; something like 1,750,000 regular players and 250,000 considered as occasional players. But it is the growth in the number of golf courses which lends emphasis to his article. At the opening of the 1930 golf season there were no fewer than 5,846 in operation, of which number 543 were municipal and privately-owned daily-fee courses. In 1916 there were only 742 courses of all kinds in the whole of the republic. Here is a gain of 5,104 in fourteen years. Even as recently as 1923 there were but 1,903 doing business, with only ninety-four of them public courses.

Indeed, The New York Times points out, the business of golf is to be made a factor in helping to solve the unemployment problem in the United States. An appeal has gone out to the more wealthy clubs to have as much work undertaken now as climatic and other circumstances will permit. The famous Brae Burn Country Club is leading the way with extensive work which, while not immediately necessary, was in contemplation for next year.

The payroll from the business of golf in Victoria, by the way, to say nothing of the supplies which constantly are in demand, amounts to a good deal every year—and is increasing all the time.

THE MIXED FARM

IS IT CONCEIVABLE THAT THERE IS hunger or the threat of hunger on a Canadian farm? The question is prompted by some comments of The Regina Leader-Post, which says, on many farms in Western Canada there are cows, pigs, hens and gardens, but on others there are no cows, pigs, hens and gardens. There may not be a surplus of cash in the case of the former, but there is no starvation bogey. In the case of the latter there may be both lack of cash and no food.

There is something disturbing in the very suggestion that there should be hunger on the farm—especially the Canadian farm. Yet after all it is not difficult to realize that the farmer who confines all his activities to the raising of wheat, who has had all his irons in the one fire for years, finds himself up against it when his crop fails, or prices drop. No magic wand will put cows, pigs, hens and gardens on his farm overnight. The more intensive branch of agriculture demands a good deal of long and patient effort; but its products are mighty useful when things go wrong in other directions. A well-lined ladder is compensation for much.

Perhaps Canada's recent experience with her crop, her not very serious share in the business recession, will promote more interest in mixed farming and add considerably to the number of farms where there are cows, pigs, hens and gardens. If it shall do that, the whole country will benefit because it will mean a more prosperous rural population, imparting greater stability to our economic structure.

HUMBAG

AN EDITORIAL IN A RECENT ISSUE OF The Montreal Gazette contained the following paragraph:

Mr. Bennett has warned the British government and the British people that the offer made by him in the name of Canada may not be repeated. The British government has persisted in its attitude in the face of that warning, and their must be the responsibility for what may be the irretrievable loss of a magnificent opportunity.

In view of the fact that Mr. Bennett made no offer to remove the new taxation which his government imposed on British goods just before he and his colleagues sailed for London, that he did not even offer to do this in return for Britain's abandonment of free trade and everything else he asked her to do, The Gazette's comment is plain humbug.

Incidentally, The Toronto Star says "just what 'the magnificent opportunity' is, and what the loss is and what difference it would make whether it were irretrievable or not, would bear some explaining."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE AUSTRALIAN-TARIFF

The New York World

Australia's experience shows that the tariff, like any other tax, is more likely to aggravate than to cure trade depression. She needs more trade, and the tariff gives her less.

GERMANY'S AUSTRIAN LEADER

The Truth (London)

Herr Hitler may well become a maker and unmaker of ministries, though as he is an Austrian he cannot lead his troops in person, being disqualified for a seat in the German Parliament. It is an anomalous position, rather as if Mr. Hearst or Mr. Hoover were to become the leader of the United Empire Party.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, November 17, 1905

There is every reason to believe that the four trustees whose terms will expire at the end of the year will offer themselves for re-election. There is likewise ground for the belief that were it not for the recent action of the board in dismissing the principal of South Park school some, at least, of the four would have retired from the field.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Fresh to strong southerly winds, or gales, unsettled and colder, with rain or sleet.

The first shipment of Finnish haddock for the season has been received in Victoria to-day. A carload lot sent here from the Atlantic coast has been divided between F. R. Stewart & Co. of this city and Vancouver. The price this year is lower than usual, being fifteen cents a pound.

It is possible that during the coming year the Portland Canal will be included in the ports of call of steamers either running to northern British Columbia ports or Skagway. So rapidly is the mining country in this locality developing that those now operating on the Canal consider that there is business to warrant a regular steamer service with that point.

The Blue Funnel steamer Ping Suey, which is bringing Christmas supplies to merchants of this city, has been delayed and it is thought will not arrive city until December 10.

A meeting of the City Council last evening decided to award the contract for sewer piping to the local firm, Messrs. J. H. & J. W. Smith.

CORRECTS REVEE

To the Editor:—May I, through the columns of your paper, correct a statement made by Ex-Reeve Crouch at the Western Council meeting on Friday evening last and reported in your paper the following day? Mr. Crouch stated that in June of this year I received my indemnity cheque two weeks before it was due. This statement is incorrect. The indemnity cheques are due on June 30 and December 31.

On June 30 last the council met and every councillor's indemnity cheque, including my own, was placed upon the council table and handed to us at that meeting.

I have never asked Mr. Crouch in his capacity as reeve to have my indemnity cheque made out before due, but have always received my cheque when my fellow-councillors have received theirs. I would ask Mr. Crouch, if my statement is not correct, to reply, otherwise no further explanation is necessary.

ECONOMIC FALLACIES

To the Editor:—Re the report of F. M. Black's "new scheme" for the marketing of the Okanagan crop, presented to the government of November 12.

The fanatical creed of "control" is inherent in all such schemes. This creed ignores economic conditions which are beyond the power of the state to control. Mr. Black is blind to the recent demonstration of an attempt to control the price of wheat in the Canadian West.

The germ of failure lies in the board and its method of election. This germ grows into the seed of disaster; it terminates in the soil of control; it is fertilized by legislation; flourishes on propaganda, and is finally harvested by a combine of disasters, which are always attendant on the conditions and not on the need.

The ultimate result of such proposals is to bring about economic conditions which are beyond the power of the state to control. The cause of the last is hopelessly entangled in the effects of legislation enacted through the "single-mindedness" of a few individuals, and which is hopelessly betrayed by the value of their own ignorance.

EVILS OF ALCOHOL

To the Editor:—Scientific research has proven that the drinking of one glass of beer in excess of the normal amount of alcohol can be stopped, from five to ten feet. Alcohol taken even in small quantities in any form lessens the responsibility for what may be the irretrievable loss of a magnificent opportunity.

In view of the fact that Mr. Bennett made no offer to remove the new taxation which his government imposed on British goods just before he and his colleagues sailed for London, that he did not even offer to do this in return for Britain's abandonment of free trade and everything else he asked her to do, The Gazette's comment is plain humbug.

meal operators, are doing their best to clean up every fish in the sea. The cannery operators when the fish are spawning and can everything, and although the market for canned salmon is bad, no effort is made to give the fish a rest. The massacre still goes on. The government officials, of course, assure the public that their efforts are so successful that fish are as plentiful as ever—good enough flapdoodle to tell a boy, but the fact remains that the price of coho and spring salmon have risen in price several hundred per cent in the last few years.

The fish-meal fishermen, with their small mesh nets, scoop up everything and apparently hold the key to the situation, for they have influence enough to be allowed to take a good fish like the herring, out of season, under the flimsy pretext of "unemployment."

I cannot congratulate the Victoria Anglers' Association on their reported meeting. Politically, no doubt, it was successful, but as a measure to conserve fish it was a joke.

I am sending the tonnage of fish canned and made to fish meal, to all the sporting clubs in Canada and the U.S.A., also the resolutions passed by the Victoria Anglers' Association. I should send it to Life and Punch.

Mr. Bryan Williams, on commercial fishing. This gentleman was given charge of our fisheries some time ago, and I know no better choice, but he is paid a large salary, and it is time we heard from him. Can it be possible that the Victoria Anglers' Association overlooked the best authority to have in Canada on fish and fish conservation before framing their resolution? Surely they were not dragging a herring across the trail. Good sportsmen would never do this. Perhaps Major Monteth will explain.

PREMIER BENNETT VISITS IRELAND

London, Nov. 17.—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, left London yesterday evening for brief visits to Ireland and Scotland. Mr. Bennett went first to Dublin, where he is being entertained by the Free State Government. Thence he will proceed to Belfast and Edinburgh, to receive the freedom of each of those two cities.

The Prime Minister plans to return to London Thursday. He will subsequently spend a few days in Paris at the invitation of the French Government. There have already been some preliminary negotiations between France and Canada, and it is further these trade discussions the Paris trip is proposed.

Mr. Bennett's sailing date for Canada has not yet been definitely decided, but it will probably be about the end of the month. The Prime Minister will land at a Canadian port.

High Tariffs Are Blamed

New York, Nov. 17.—High tariffs were held to be the chief stumbling block to international economic readjustment by leaders in national and international finance at the annual meeting of the Academy of Political Science.

Thomas W. Lamont said that increased rates had certainly led to certain feeling of dismay and ill-will abroad. He also predicted some harm, both to the home trade and international commerce.

EDUCATIONIST WILL LECTURE

William G. Black to Talk to New Education Fellowship on Educational Experiments

Dr. William G. Black, associate professor of education at the University of British Columbia, will address the New Education Fellowship at 8.15 o'clock next Thursday evening in Victoria College. His subject will be "Important Educational Developments of the Post-war Period."

Dr. Black commenced his career in business. Before joining the staff of the University of British Columbia, he taught in the South Vancouver High School, and for three years was on the staff of the Vancouver Normal School, where he held the post of instructor in psychology, history of education and measurements. He has also assisted Dr. Judd in his experimental work at the University of Chicago.

Optometrists Urge Health Insurance Plan Include Care of Eyes

A delegation of optometrists on Saturday interviewed the Royal Commission on State Health Insurance and Maternity Benefits in support of inclusion in any scheme of health insurance of provision for care of the eyes. The delegation suggested that periodical examination of eyesight should be one of the benefits given and will present a written statement of the views of the profession.

The delegation included Harold Le Page, Gordon Shaw and A. P. Blyth and was introduced by Joseph Rose. They also asked that registration for optometrists be strictly enforced.

MUSTAPHA PUTS DOWN OPPOSITION

Istanbul, Nov. 17.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish strong man, has squelched the opposition which challenged his leadership during the summer.

Only four months ago Fethi Bey, a Liberal leader, formed an opposition party and campaigned strenuously against the government.

Saturday evening he opened a fight on Kemal's Minister of the Interior, and a motion of confidence was the outcome, the government winning by 224 to 49.

Yesterday evening Fethi Bey went before Kemal and stated he had dissolved his party, saying that since the Ghazi remained president of the People's Party he was unwilling to continue opposition against such a chief. Fethi Bey said two or three of his ten Liberal deputies will remain in parliament as independents. The others will re-enter the fold of the party headed by Kemal and Premier Ismet Pasha, which thus resumes the way it has exercised for eight years.

Island Farmers Ask Tax Relief

The annual meeting of the Vancouver Island District Farmers' Institutes was held on Saturday at the Parliament Buildings. The delegates were welcomed by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Acting Minister of Agriculture. E. W. Neel presided. The meeting was well attended.

The government will be asked to revise the system of assessing agricultural land, the meeting favoring a method based upon the productive yield of cultivated land, wild land being assessed on its actual income producing worth. The institutes also supported relief of land of a substantial portion of school taxation.

The Provincial Government will be asked to endeavor to lessen the spread between freight rates on grain for export and domestic markets, the domestic rate being declared a hardship on livestock farmers and poultrymen.

Reduction of licenses for motor cars used by farmers was advocated and a motion supporting aid for settlers, by subsidizing land clearing, failed to carry. Resolutions tabled for further discussion concerned government aid in powder cost, elevator screenings supervision and taxation appeals.

DENIES FINES KNOWN BEFORE JUDGE SPOKE

Solloway-Mills Counsel in Toronto Says M.P.P.'s Statement Unfounded

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The allegation attributed to S. C. Tweed, Liberal M.P.P. for Waterloo North, that L. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills, heads of the one-time Dominion-wide brokerage firm of that name, knew the amounts of their fines before sentences were passed on them at the fast sessions here October 29, was declared yesterday evening to be erroneous by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., who was counsel for the mining brokers.

Mr. Tweed was reported to have said that "Solloway and Mills appeared in court October 29 with cheques already made out for the amount of their fines before the amounts were made known by the judge in pronouncing sentence." He was speaking in Woodstock, Ont., at the time.

"If Mr. Tweed is correctly reported," said Mr. Slaght, "he has been guilty of a grave error. No one was aware, directly or indirectly, of the sentence to be imposed in this case until it was pronounced in court."

A Woodstock, Ont., dispatch Saturday night said:

"Asking by what authority the partners in the now defunct brokerage house of Solloway, Mills and Company were enabled to appear in court October 29 with cheques already made out for the amounts of their fines before the amounts were made known by the judge in pronouncing sentence."

S. C. Tweed, M.P.P. for North Waterloo, addressed members of the North Oxford Reform Association Saturday.

He deplored the inadequacy of the sentences imposed on the Toronto stock brokers in connection with stock frauds.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—With penitentiaries of Canada filled to overflowing and additional buildings being added to house the increasing inflow of convicts, Brigadier-General W. St. Pierre Hughes, superintendent of penitentiaries, attributes the condition to a breaking down of home and family life.

In an interview Saturday the general blamed the lack of parental control for the increase in the criminal population.

In the penitentiary at Prince Albert the cell accommodation is not sufficient. There are at least 100 too many inmates and 127 men are now sleeping on cots in the corridors. With 901 prisoners now incarcerated in the Kingston penitentiary the institution is crowded. A new building for the accommodation of 400 is almost completed. Only the British Columbia penitentiary at New Westminster, and the Dorchester, N.B., institution have sufficient room, according to the superintendent.

In the opinion of General Hughes, the only way to meet the increase in crime is a return to the old system of family life and parental control. He regards the home as the bulwark of virtue, self-control and righteousness.

"REMARKABLE!" MRS. WEBSTER SAYS OF SARGON

"I'm Like a Different Person," Declares Vancouver Woman

"I'm making this statement about my wonderful experience with Sargon because I believe it's my Christian duty to do so and I hope that what I say will be of help to others," recently declared Mrs. M. A. Webster, of 287 19th Avenue East, Vancouver, who is a member of the United Church, and very active in religious work.

MRS. M. A. WEBSTER

All my life I'd been well and strong—I had a cheerful spirit, and always loved to be visiting with people; but about a year ago my health gave way, and my spirit seemed to break with it. I had to give up all my church activities, and go to bed and call my daughter over to do my housework and wait on me.

"I had sick headaches that I could hardly endure; there were almost constant pains through the upper part of my body; my lower limbs would cramp and become numb. I suffered terribly with indigestion in the form of shortness of breath; and I had severe bilious attacks."

"Sargon put me on my feet and I feel like a different woman! I have a marvelous feeling of strength and energy all over me. I never suffer with indigestion like I did; and the headaches and bilious attacks, and pains and cramps through my body and limbs have disappeared."

"I'd taken so much strong physic, that it had stopped even relieving my direct need satisfactorily; but Sargon Pills regulated me perfectly and acted without the upsetting effect I found in other laxatives. Sargon is truly a remarkable remedy."

Sargon may be obtained in Victoria and Vancouver from all Owl Drug Stores; in New Westminster from the Bess Drug Company; in Esquimalt from Palmer's Drug Store, and in Oak Bay from Charles Hudson.

CROWDS AND POLICE CLASH IN KARACHI

Bombay, India, Nov. 17.—Celebration of "Jaw Hari Day," honoring the imprisoned Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the All-India National Congress, brought serious rioting yesterday in Karachi and Surat and lesser disorders in Bombay.

At Karachi stones and dust thrown by Congress adherents at occupants of motor cars returning from a public works inaugural injured several Europeans. One, the wife of an assistant-commissioner, being struck over the eye by a brick.

At Surat fifty persons were arrested after attempts to hold forbidden meetings in observance of the day. Police dispersed several attempted processions, injuring a number of persons.

Joseph Birnie, Indian Christian president of the Bombay War Council of the All-India National Congress, was arrested while reading a speech to a large crowd of Indians gathered on Chowpatti Sands for the occasion.

Keating

The Spanish Pioneers Society will hold its annual old-time dance in the Agricultural Hall, San Antonio, on Friday evening, December 5. Henry Robinson's old-time orchestra of Duncan will furnish music. Four cash prizes will be given for the best old-time costumes and J. J. White of Sidney will give a special cash prize for the minut costume to count 50 per cent.

The South San Juan Junior Institute held a well-attended meeting at the home of Mrs. P. Goodwin, Michelson Street, Victoria, on Thursday evening. Miss Mabel Miller presided. Arrangements were made for a dance in the Keating Temperance Hall next Friday. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Misses Nellie and Alice Sytan. The next meeting, when the annual election of officers will take place, will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Hafer.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the South San Juan United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Rose on Thursday afternoon with thirteen members and friends present. The financial statement of the sale of home cooking, held in Spencer's bazaar, was given by Miss Alma Heyer and proved very gratifying. It was decided to assist with the annual Christmas treat for the Sunday school pupils. Following the business Mrs. D. H. Heyer gave a very interesting account of her recent trip with Dr. Clem Davies's party to Europe. A number of pictures were also shown of places visited. Tea was served by the hostesses at the close of the meeting. On Thursday, December 11, the annual meeting and election of officers will be held.

Miss Beatrice Butler is a patient in the Victoria Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Robertson of Vancouver were recent visitors in the district. The former was a candidate of Keating for several years.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Onions have a peculiar and important place among the vegetables. They are used in some households chiefly for seasoning and comparatively few home-makers realize their true worth.

Rich in iron, onions are a good substitute for the so-called "redmeats." This quality alone makes them a desirable addition to the menu when meat is not served. They also have the virtue of supplementing the inadequate portions of other vegetable foods.

At this season of the year, "dry" onions are at their best and, when properly cooked, form a cheap and exceedingly wholesome food. They are generally considered the proper accompaniment to poultry and game, but are quite acceptable with beef, mutton or liver as well.

Onions lose minerals less heavily through baking than through other methods of cooking. However, if they are not drained from the water in which they were cooked, they can be boiled to advantage. Cook, uncovered, in a rather large proportion of rapidly boiling water. By the time they are tender, the water will be cooked away and the flavor will be pleasantly mild. Prolonged cooking of onions causes marked loss of flavor, leaving the cooked vegetable flat and insipid. Cooking in a steamer or in a pressure cooker retains all the original onion flavor.

Our great-grandmothers had great faith in the healing properties of onions for colds. Onion syrup and onion plasters were considered effective remedies.

To-day, in the light of scientific investigations, we know that onions are one of the "protective" foods and do much to ward off colds and prevent general diseases. Vitamins B and C are both present, vitamin C being particularly abundant. This knowledge enables us to add onions to menus with increased assurance of their value.

The actual food value in terms of calories depends largely on the way onions are served, but one-half cup plain cooked onions furnishes approximately thirteen calories of protein, six of fat and eighty-one of carbohydrates.

TEA ASSISTS SEA CADETS

Lieut.-Governor Among the Guests at Mrs. J. H. Gillespie's Saturday

Substantial impetus was given to the work of the Rainbow Sea Cadets through the very successful tea given at "Windyhaugh," the home of Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, on Saturday afternoon.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was a distinguished guest during the afternoon and was welcomed by Mrs. F. E. Curtis, president, and Mrs. W. N. Hotham, vice-president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Navy League, and Mrs. Gillespie.

Sixteen cadets in charge of Lieutenant W. P. Tribe formed a guard of honor, and His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, after witnessing the breaking of colors, inspected the company of boys and congratulated them on their smart appearance.

Proceeding tea the company was entertained with the beautifully-danced Sean Triubhas, presented by Marian Peterson, the youngest member of the Royal Brite Chapter I.O.D.E., which, its regent, Mrs. Sydney Wood, turned out in force to assist with the sale of candy, serving tea, and the distribution of guessing games.

Mrs. B. T. Drake was in charge of the sundries stall, Lady (Percy) Lake had charge of the guessing contests, and fortunetelling was in charge of Mrs. R. Alcock. Mrs. Margaret Kirkendall was general convener.

His Honor was accompanied by A. M. D. Fairbairn and others present were the president of the Navy League, P. F. Curtis, and Captain Johnson and E. Steneham, and other members of the committee.

GUIDES' WATER GALA SUCCESS

Miss Mackenzie Presented Trophies at Swimming Fete Saturday at Crystal Garden

Miss Mackenzie was an interested spectator at the Crystal Garden on Saturday afternoon when the Guides and Brownies to the number of 116 participated in a very successful swimming gala, and at the close of the proceedings presented the prizes and trophies to the winners of the various warmly-contested events. On her arrival Miss Mackenzie was welcomed by Mrs. George Phillips, commissioner for Victoria West district, and presented with a corsage bouquet of roses by a Brownie of the Gonzales Company.

WELL ORGANIZED

Mrs. H. M. Archibald, assistant commissioner for Victoria West, and Miss M. A. Wigley, president of the Victoria District Association, assisted by Mrs. Little and members of the association, superintended the arrangements for the reception of the many guests and the subsequent sale, while the contests were under the direction of Miss Hilda Leighton, who was presented with a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums by the Rangers in appreciation. Mrs. Steele acted as judge, assisted by Mrs. R. W. Hibberson and C. P. Ellison, of the Crystal Garden swimming pool, who gave invaluable help in the judging of the life-saving and in many other ways. The officers of the course were Misses M. and L. Gale, Leighton, Ryan, W. Wilson and D. McLaren.

The events followed one another without a hitch, and the arrangements of the programme, whereby contestants could be distinguished by the different colored caps for each company and pack, enabled the spectators to follow the races with ease and understanding.

WINNERS OF EVENTS

Final: 40 feet, girls under 11—1, M. Bailey (Tillamook); 2, E. Hibbard (Esquimalt); 3, E. Mungravy (Gonzales). ## DUNCAN LAWN TENNIS CLUB HOLDS DANCE

Special to The Times
Duncan, Nov. 17.—The Duncan Lawn Tennis Club held its annual dance at the Rex Hall Friday evening with the Vagabonds of Nanaimo supplying the music. The hall was artistically decorated with colors of green and white, with pink shades on the lights. The supper tables were exceptionally pretty, with fan-shaped decorations of mauve, pink and green paper, with leaves and frosted effect. An excellent supper was served. The various committees in charge under Miss W. Dawson-Thomas and

N. R. Staples, were as follows: Hall and tables, Mrs. D. Edwards, assisted by Mrs. J. Talbot, Mrs. H. R. Punnett, Mrs. C. S. Crane, Mrs. H. R. Garrard, Miss A. Talbot, Miss Wynne and Miss Blythe; supper, Miss W. Dawson-Thomas, Miss N. Blythe, Mrs. Lamb, assisted by Mrs. Williams-Presman, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. E. W. Carr, Miss P. Staples, Mrs. H. Shaw and many others.

SINGLE WOMEN CAN EARN MOST

Questionnaire Shows That More Educated Women Make Least Money

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 17.—The more education an advanced United States woman gets the more she tends to devote her life to social service instead of making money. The farther she is from marriage the higher her income—that is, unmarried women earn most, widows and divorcees next, and married ones least.

AVERAGE INCOME $1,662

These findings apply to 14,073 business and professional women, classified as "above the wage-earning level" who answered questions of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Michigan. The answers were compiled by Prof. Margaret Elliott and Grace E. Manson. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs co-operated in the questionnaires, and three-fourths of those answering were employed in commercial, educational and manufacturing organizations. The average income was $1,662 annually, and only 6.7 per cent earned $3,000 or more.

"Women who have been graduated from a college or university," says the report, "are earning more in every kind of work than women with less education." They tend, however, to concentrate in lower paid fields, such as teaching and clerical work. They do not tend to select occupations where chances of high financial rewards are best.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

Seventy per cent of these college women are in the employ of educational, social or welfare organizations. Why? Is it because college women can afford to overlook questions of earnings? Are the inherent satisfactions of the work itself more important to her than financial returns? May it be that teaching and welfare work seem to college women more socially approved ways of earning a living?

"Or is she aware of the opportunities in these newer fields of work? Perhaps the true answer is a composite one."

Concerning earnings the report says, "If allowance is made for differences in age and experience, single women earn most and married women least, while somewhere in between fall the earnings of widows and women who are divorced or separated from their husbands."

"It would be hazardous, indeed, to venture any conclusions from this analysis as to relative effectiveness of single and married women workers. To what extent the relatively low earnings of married women are due to lack of incentive or divided allegiance to home and job, or to a more limited range in occupation opportunity it is impossible to say at this time. Earnings increase with age up to fifty, vary but little between fifty and sixty, and decline thereafter."

"The value of business or commercial college training, measured in earnings, seems to vary inversely with amount of previous education. Women with only grade school education benefit most from it, while with minor exceptions, college graduates who have had business college training earn less than the total group of college women."

"There is some evidence that women who have worked for two or more different employers during their first ten to fifteen working years have profited by the change, although in the long run women who have remained longest with their present employer have higher earnings than those who have made a change."

"Will you please tell me the amount of sleep for a baby of two months of age?" queries Mrs. H.B.D. "He sleeps from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. and has a nap in the morning. He gets very restless in the afternoon but I try to keep him from sleeping then. I get so much good from your articles."

Edith Franks was elected president of the Victoria branch of the Overseas Nursing Sisters at the annual meeting and tea held on Saturday afternoon in the Crystal Garden. Other officers elected were: Miss Alice Williams, vice-president, and Miss Jean Kay, secretary-treasurer. Those present yesterday, all of whom had seen service in nursing camps with the Allied troops overseas during the war, were: Miss Edith Franks, Mrs. C. E. Ball, Miss Agnes A. City Temple Bazaar.—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the City Temple will hold their fall bazaar on Tuesday and Wednesday at Temple Hall. The bazaar will be opened to-morrow at 3 o'clock by Dr. Clem Davies. A wonderful array of varied wares will be offered. Also afternoon tea and a good programme.

Pythian Sisters.—The Pythian Sisters of Island Temple No. 2 held their regular meeting on Thursday evening with M.E.C. White, presiding. The usual business was transacted. During the meeting plans were made for a bazaar to be held some time next month under the co-operation of Mrs. Dodd. At the next meeting the nomination of officers will take place, after which it will take the form of "stunt" night, of which Mrs. Abbott is in charge. At the close of the meeting the sisters joined the Knights at the first of their series of whist drives, and an enjoyable evening was spent.

Canadian Daughters.—The regular meeting of the Far West Assembly No. 30, Canadian Daughters' League, was held on Thursday evening in the New Thought Hall. A bowling team was formed and arrangements made to play on Tuesday evening, commencing at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Barr, convener of the educational committee, announced that she had made arrangements to have Reginald MacKay give an illustrated lecture on "The motion picture in the modern class room, or new developments in Canadian educational films" at the next meeting. The social committee then took charge and the rest of the evening was spent in games and dancing.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. MARY ELDER.

Mrs. Elder will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

PERMIT TINY BABY TO SLEEP HIS FILL

The older books on baby care frightened mothers unnecessarily, for they suggested that the healthy baby should sleep from twenty to twenty-two hours out of the twenty-four. If he didn't, as was often the case, mothers were panic-stricken. More recent data on sleep have revolutionized these older ideas. It has been found that from birth some healthy babies do not even sleep more than fourteen hours a day. This amount is about the minimum for the tiny baby, and of course there are babies who sleep many more hours.

SLEEPING HOURS CHANGE

Each year of his life the baby's sleeping hours decrease. At first he sleeps from fourteen to eighteen hours a day, and many mothers find it difficult to get him to sleep. After ten to twelve hours of sleep. After two years he may have reduced this amount to eleven or twelve. Up to adolescence the child is benefited by ten to twelve hours of sleep. During this period circumstances and family habits will impress themselves upon the child and his sleeping hours will be in accord with them.

"Will you please tell me the amount of sleep for a baby of two months of age?" queries Mrs. H.B.D. "He sleeps from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. and has a nap in the morning. He gets very restless in the afternoon but I try to keep him from sleeping then. I get so much good from your articles."

AIMEE REFUTES LIQUOR STORIES

New York, Nov. 17.—Aimee Sample McPherson, evangelist, returned yesterday on the liner Toloa from a cruise in the Caribbean with her recovery from her recent nervous breakdown still incomplete.

She charged that "some reporter" had falsely pictured her party as drinking liquor in Panama Canal Zone cabarets. Her face thin, eyes dark-circled, she clasped and unclasped her hands as she talked and when she reached out to take a newspaper clipping her hand shook. She said she had lost thirty-eight pounds during her illness.

"It is true that, with other passengers we broke the long sea journey by going ashore and making a tour of the canal and the city (Colon). Being a sailor town, the long streets of saloons and places and types of entertainment afforded them, was interesting to me as compared with the strikingly small number of churches or revival halls.

"We entered as spectators several of these places, remaining only a few minutes in each. I drank water or lemonade."

AROUND THE TOWN

14th. Up early after broken night, occasioned by howling wind and rain. Home all morning. In afternoon to bus, where met Mistress Castlemaine, and so to town together.

A delightful thing to me is to see the towns full of people again as it is now. Shoppers do outdo themselves in making a brave show in their window, and many bargains there be within their doors.

Much attracted by wonderful display of clocks in window of Wilkerson's Jewellery Shoppe and enter to inspect them. Clocks of every description from grandfather's and grandmother's clocks, clocks with cathedral chimera, bedroom clocks, travelling clocks in leather cases, dear little mother-of-pearl travelling clocks from France to gay china clocks to brighten your kitchen. Determine to select a Christmas gift for my favourite niece, while still they have such a large selection and look at wrist watches. Wide range at all prices. Great difficulty in deciding between luxurious little oval-shaped platinum wrist watch heavily studded with diamonds and a unique little purse or satchel watch, but finally take latter. I know Rosemary will love it because it is so different and new. She will enjoy taking it when she goes on week-end trips up the island. It slips into a wee enamel case for one's purse and at night it stands up just like any other grown-up travelling clock. Of a truth this is a most captivating shoppe!

"Sing a song of Seasons, Something bright in all, Flowers in the Summer, Fires in the Fall."

Now I know why that has been running through my mind for days. Samuel has forgotten again to order our winter's supply of coal!

So to Kingham-Gillespie's and take advantage of their helpful offer to send combustion engineer to inspect our furnace. Much interested to learn that Comox coal will keep our furnace burning for twelve hours and "is no more expensive than ordinary coal. Must urge Samuel not to wait for another cold snap before ordering coal.

Passing Diggon's remember Samuel did ask to bring him some note paper. Enchanted with display of beautiful gift stationery and we spend some time inspecting it and learn from courteous young maid in the shoppe, who shows us all that is new in letter paper, that initials will be embossed without charge on any costing $1.50 or higher. Lovely box with little channelled shopping list, compact nestled in among paper and some with pretty quill pens. Mistress Castlemaine buys some French "billets doux," a letter card with double folded sheet within, very new and useful. Price 25c or 50c.

Must procure a volume to read, so straightway to the Marionette. In passing through the shop, could but stay to browse around among the array of lovely gifts about us, gathered surely from the four corners of the earth. Courteously invited to inspect the many beautiful things. We must leave again. On the balcony of the Marionette cordially assists me. A cheerful interesting spot to linger a

Mistress Castlemaine takes me to a new place, the Combe, so pretty a place I am vexed she heard of it first! What a lovely colorful world of gifts delights our eyes when we find it tucked away in a corner on the second floor of the Kregge Building, a beautiful place to shop for gifts and such a variety to choose from. Much pleased to see one of Mr. Digby Robinson's pictures, in that it is unusual for him to exhibit them. This wealth going to see.

Samuel hath a great fondness for Chevy Chase ginger ale. He says it doth enliven his spirits, as no other ginger ale can. Of a truth it is a friendly beverage to take and its cheery sparkle invites one to quaff. At an afternoon or evening of bridge, I do frequently serve Chevy Chase to my guests and am invariably greeted with enquiries regarding it. I must order some more today, as I believe we are on the last dozen bottles.

To Messrs. Little & Taylor's, where I buy a plate of "Queen Mary" china for Anne Weston, whose friends have all agreed to give her this lovely china for Christmas against the time of her marriage next spring, when she will be the bride. Mistress Castlemaine, in 1913, and she has graciously consented to its reproduction. Methinks Anne will have a table fit for a Queen.

I do not think myself over vain, but Samuel always doth remark it when I look my best. Several times last week did Helen on the radio to Station KVR, who at eleven fifteen daily do talk of Doralinda "Allura," something new in the art of feminine charm. So to the MacFarlane Drug Co., whom they mention as their agents for Victoria. Mistress Castlemaine, too, is interested, as what woman is not in keeping her youthful fascination. Notice there, as well, a fine assortment of French perfumery.

So to the MacFarlane Drug Co., whom they mention as their agents for Victoria. Mistress Castlemaine, too, is interested, as what woman is not in keeping her youthful fascination. So late have we shopped, that Mistress Castlemaine says she must just run into Dale's and get one of their roast chickens for dinner. What a delicious appetizing whiff we get when Master Dale brings it in all piping hot, well stuffed and, much to my surprise, with a container of hot gravy. The chicken is fifteen cents, but Mistress Castlemaine will be mightily pleased with his dinner tonight.

Bridge club at eight, where did have outrageous bad luck and much chagrined at not winning first prize. Notwithstanding, enjoyed the evening and was glad to be among the first to hear the latest gossip about pretty Peggy Preston, the which I have promised not to tell for the present, but perchance I shall tell you later. Mistress Gwynne did serve the most delicious golden brown buns, which she did roast at the table with the whole she gave us all the latest news. I do happen to know that Thomas did give her that lovely waffle iron, as I was at the Murphy Electric Co. when he bought it and he paid $7.50 for it. It is an attractive looking waffle iron with a glass handle, but only $2.50. The chocolate sauce is a real treat. I have promised to bring a waffle iron to the next meeting and one I think should be followed more.

President Avery Brundage to introduce amendments before forty-second annual convention of National Amateur Athletic Union seeking strict amateurism; would prevent recruiting of amateur athletes by commercial organization on eve of championship events; opposition to new regulation.

By Ted Vosburgh, Associated Press Sports Writer

Baby-faced Slugger Faces "Fargo Express" at New York Friday Night

Vancouver Boy Is Favorite; Tommy Loughran Matched With Levinsky

New York, Nov. 17.—Fistic interest centres principally on New York and Chicago this week.

At Madison Square Garden Friday night, Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced slugger from Vancouver, B.C., faces another heavy hitter in the person of Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express.

McLarnin, who knocked out Al Singer in three rounds in his last New York appearance, will be a heavy favorite to win, although Petrolle may give him plenty of trouble. Tait Littleman of Milwaukee meets Harry Smith, negro middleweight, in the ten-round semi-final.

LOUGHNAN RETURNS

WILLIE HOPPE

New York, Nov. 17.—Operating without benefit of the National Billiard Association, Willie Hoppe and Walter Cochran to-day will begin a 3,600-point match for the 18.1 ball title Hoppe has held for years. Afternoon and evening blocks of 300 points will be played at the Strand Academy each day this week.

The National Association, which Hoppe, Cochran and others have broken relations, has declined to sanction the match. Hoppe, however, has placed at stake the diamond medal, emblematic of the championship, as well as a side forfeit of $250. Of the gate receipts, 65 per cent will go to the winner and 35 per cent to the loser.

DUNCAN OPEN TITLE DEFENCE WITH VICTORY

Up-island Second Division Badminton Champions Beat Christ Church 11 to 7

Superiority of Duncan in Mixed Doubles Gives Them Hard-fought Win

Duncan's second division badminton team commenced its defence of the championship title, won last year on Saturday by defeating the Christ Church team of Victoria eleven matches to seven, after a close and exciting match played Up-island.

Duncan's team last year outclassed the other three teams in the second division, as did their first team in the senior section, but it is forecast that both teams will be pressed this year to retain their honors from Victoria teams who promise to be stronger than usual.

In the men's doubles Christ Church secured a lead by winning two and having the third fixture. Don Fish and Sid White had a hard tussle with Appleby and Staples, winning at 15-11. Ted Simmons and Pritchard, who last year performed with the champions, won in straight sets from Creighton and Ansell, registering the Christ Church team's second win. Patterson and Cox secured a half with the home third pair when they divided two sets.

DUNCAN CATCHES UP

Duncan made up the lost ground in the women's doubles when they won two of the three and managed to secure a half in the third. Duncan's superiority was more pronounced in the mixed doubles when they finished first in eight of the twelve matches.

The results follow with Christ Church players being named first.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Fish and White beat Appleby and Staples, 15-11, 15-17.

Simmons and Pritchard beat Ansell and Creighton, 15-9, 15-5.

Patterson and Cox tied with Purvey and Henslowe, 15-11, 15-17.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

Miss Taylor and Miss White lost to Mrs. Diron and Miss Dawson-Thomson, 15-5, 15-8.

Mrs. Simpson and Miss Patt lost to Mrs. Walby and Mrs. Creighton, 15-11, 15-17.

Mrs. White and Miss Stubbs tied with Mrs. Long and Miss Wightman, 15-7, 15-13.

Mixed DOUBLES

Miss Taylor and Fish tied with Appleby and Staples, 15-10, 15-8.

White and White lost to Miss Dawson-Thomson and Staples, 15-4, 15-12.

Mrs. White and White lost to Mrs. Diron and Staples, 15-4, 15-4.

Mrs. Simpson and Simmons lost to Mrs. Walby and Ansell, 15-10, 15-16.

Mrs. Simpson and Simmons beat Mrs. Creighton and Creighton, 15-11, 15-13.

Miss Patt and Pritchard lost to Mrs. Walby and Ansell, 15-4, 15-10.

Mrs. Long and Patterson tied with Mrs. White and Patterson, 15-11, 15-17.

Miss Taylor and Patterson beat Mrs. Wightman and Henslowe, 15-12, 15-14.

Miss White and Cox beat Mrs. Long and Purvey, 15-6, 15-4.

Lions and Eskimos Meet To-night In First P.C.H.L. Game

Champion Vancouver Club, Which Has Been Greatly Changed, Will Face Strong Seattle Team; Beattie and Joe Jerwa Missing; Gordon Pettinger, Blyth and Carr Will Fill Gaps; Lloyd Turner Revamps Eskimos; Portland Bucks and Tacoma Reported Strong.

Vancouver, Nov. 17.—Hockey will be ushered in here this evening when Guy Patrick's champion Vancouver Lions act as hosts to the Seattle Eskimos in the opening game of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Interest runs high over the outcome of the fracas and a bumper house is expected to watch the teams pry the lid off the P.C.H.L. season.

Since last season, Vancouver has lost Jack Beattie, first string centre, and Joe Jerwa, defence stalwart. Gordon Pettinger, who was secured from Regina to replace Jerwa, has been made over into centre. He will operate into the second forward line, with Blyth of last season's club, and Carr, a recruit from Calgary, flanking him. Sandy Sanderson, Frank Jerwa and Sammy McAdam, holdovers, will compose the first string trio.

Behind them will be Capt. Doug Brennan and Arnold, on defence, with Percy ("Stonewall") Jackson in goal. ESKS CHANGED

Changes made by Manager Lloyd Turner in the Eskimo roster since last spring have been numerous and, apparently, effective.

For one forward line he has last winter's combination of Max Sutherland, Jack Walker and Ernie Anderson. All three appear to be in better shape than at this time last year, particularly Sutherland.

The other forward line is what makes the biggest difference in the Eskimo lineup. As left wing is Bobby Connors, fast, young and clever, a star in the National League last season with the Detroit Cougars. On the other wing is Pete Bellefeuille, a smooth-skating, sharpshooting French-Canadian, who was a teammate of Connors on the Cougars and also on the Olympics, the Detroit International League Club, with whom the pair finished out last season after the Cougars were hopelessly out of the National League race.

At centre, knitting those two together, is Billy ("Red") Stuart, captain of the club, who spent several seasons in the National League and the last two in American Association circles, where two years ago he was voted the most valuable man in the circuit.

Bobby Benson will again be the mainstay of the defence, with Gordie Savage, last year's utility man, as his chief helper for the time being at least, and Johnny Houbregs, the giant from Trail, B.C., as the extra man.

Goal remains the big question. To replace Hal Winkler, Turner has secured Dave Kemp, a sensational Reddish and Hermann Rungge on defence, and Jack Kelly, Jimmy Evans, Camundson, Leacock, Cummings and Williamson on the wings.

Mickey McKay's Tacoma Tigers have all of last year's Victoria Cubs, with the exception of Paul Runge. Don Cummings has been traded from Vancouver. Without figuring in the corners, McKay's roster will present Earle Robertson in goal; Ernie Kenny, Reddish and Hermann Rungge on defence, and Jack Kelly, Jimmy Evans, Camundson, Leacock, Cummings and Williamson on the wings.

DUMBELLS IN "COME ELEVEN" HERE TO-NIGHT

Famous Company of Ex-Soldiers, Assisted By New Chorus, to Give Programme

The coming of The Dumbells to Victoria this evening is particularly interesting this time, for they have the best and biggest company, and the most delightful revue of their twelve seasons as Canada's leading theatrical attraction.

Captain Plunkett has gone the limit to make this revue, "Come Eleven," the very first and most outstanding of the entire Dumbell's series. He has engaged every available old favorite and launched several new stars. In the line-up will be found Al. Plunkett, Fred Emney, "Red" Newman, Pat Rafferty, Harry Binns, Charlie Jeeves, Curly Nixon, Clarence Sawyer, Danny Dineen, Audrey Carline, Jessie Butt, Merla Watson, the Corrigan Sisters and the Dumbelletes, those dainty dancers who have been a decided feature of the show these past few seasons.

Those who had about given up hope of seeing another road show were delighted to hear that The Dumbells were headed west again, playing their twelfth season in Canada, and will play here at the Royal Victoria Theatre this evening and to-morrow evening, with a matinee performance to-morrow afternoon.

Lois Wilson And
E. E. Horton Now
At the Coliseum

Four butler roles, each a well-knit and complete characterization, are played in James Cruze's smart-comedy sensation, "Once a Gentleman," featuring Edward Everett Horton and Lois Wilson at the Coliseum Theatre.
Horton portrays Oliver, "the perfect butler," the chief comedy role in this hilarious talkie. When he leaves for a month's vacation in which to play gentleman, he obtains as a substitute Tinson (Drew Demarest). Through mistaken identity he becomes a guest at a millionaire's long Island home, where Charles Coleman officiates as Wuggins, the house butler, and William O'Brien as Reeves, assigned to Horton as his personal valet.

Hilarious Farce At the Playhouse Stars Fine Actors

"Around the Corner" Shows
George Sidney and Charlie Murray in Comic Roles

A cop and a penguin, two old cronies, battle through seven reels of clever comedy in "Around the Corner."
The Columbia all-talking production with George Sidney and Charlie Murray in the leading roles, which is showing at the Playhouse Theatre to-day. The result was one of the most hilarious pictures ever screened.
Laughable situations, punctuated with clever dialogue followed close upon another and there was literally no let-up from start to finish.

Talings begin to move lively when O'Grady and Kaplan, a policeman and a pawnbroker respectively, become foster-fathers of a foundling. When the little girl grows up, the two old friends almost come to blows about the choice of her husband.

H. B. Warner Has Leading Role In Columbia Feature

Will Play Opposite Claire Mc-Dowell in "Wild Company"
Here For Three Days

Claire McDowell, one of the famous mothers of the screen, portrays the mother in "Wild Company," Fox moviehouse drama current attraction at the Columbia Theatre. She appears as the wife of Henry Grayson, a character enacted by H. B. Warner, while Frank Albertson is the son.

"Wild Company" is an original story by John Stone, and deals with the misadventure of a rich man's son who becomes involved in a robbery and murder. The plot provides a whirlwind of action and the climax is unusual.

Sharon Lynn and Joyce Compton play important roles, and other favorites in the cast are Ken Thompson, Thomas Bela Lugosi, Richard Keene, Frances McCoy, Mildred Van Dorn and Bobby Callahan.

Leo McCarey, one of the foremost directors of Hollywood, directed the picture, and the production was in general charge of Al Rockett, associate producer.

Sooke

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Holy Trinity Church was held at the home of Mrs. A. Hawking, Maple Avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, November 12, with the president, Mrs. Bowman Colthurst, in the chair. There was a very good attendance and a new member was welcomed. The annual report was read and the following officers elected for the coming year: Honorary president, Mrs. H. M. Bolton; president,
Mrs. Bowman Colthurst; vice-president,
Mrs. J. S. Murray; secretary, Mrs. H. F.
McBride. Delegates appointed to attend the M.S.C.C. conference were Mrs.
J. Baxter and Mrs. H. McBride. It was decided to hold a social evening and sale of home cooking in the Sooke Hall on Friday evening, December 12. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oliver and family of Royal Oak were recent visitors of Mrs. M. A. Clarke, Church Road.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Brownsey and son of Victoria were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brownsey.

MANY ATTEND SERVICE

Cardington, Eng., Nov. 17.—A throng of 20,000 attended a memorial service yesterday in honor of those killed in the recent wreck of the dirigible R-101.
The services were held by the Ancient Order of Buffaloes in the deserted hangar where the ship set out on its last voyage. Twenty-eight victims of the R-101 wreck were members of the Order of Buffaloes.

COLDS

Carry this handy remedy with you For colds and simple headaches, carry Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets with you. They are easy to take, and quickly break up colds and headaches. The quinine has a tonic effect, the laxative is very mild. You need both.

ANN HARDING AT DOMINION IN "HOLIDAY"

Is Supported By Edward H.
Griffith and Splendid Cast in Appealing Picture

Nearly a year after making their joint talking picture debut, Ann Harding and Edward H. Griffith recently were again united as a working combination. The blonde star and the well-known director were first associated in the making of "Paris Bound," one of the most sensational of last year's dialogue dramas.

Mr. Harding plays the principal role in "Holiday," which is directed by Griffith. "Holiday," opening to-day for a three-day run at the Dominion Theatre, is a Pathé adaptation of Philip Barry's stage success.

After a search of nearly a month for an actor suitable to play the male lead opposite Miss Harding, Robert Ames was signed for the role. The selection of Ames completed the cast, which also features Mary Astor, Edward Everett Horton and Hedda Hopper. Others in the cast are Monroe Owsen, William Holden, Elizabeth Forrester, Creighton Hale, Horace Jackson adapted the screen version from the original stage production by Arthur Hopkins.

"Loose Ends" Is Coming Here To Coliseum Theatre

To Norman Walker, "Loose Ends," coming to the Coliseum Theatre next week, is by far more important than even the art of maintaining peace—for which he is renowned at Elsie-tree, where battle is battle. It is the milestone of his brilliant career.
Having stage-managed "Loose Ends"
as a play, it has been his fondest ambition to produce it as a talkie.
The subject is the first of his own choosing. The scenario is the first written by himself, and the cast is the finest ever entrusted to his hands.

MANY FINE PLAYS BOOKED TO SHOW ON ROYAL STAGE

Because the Dumbells are at the Royal Victoria Theatre the first two days of this week, the English Players will not make their first presentation of "The Bride" until Wednesday afternoon. They will then play for the rest of the week. It has been announced that the week following "The Bride," the very remarkable play "Outward Bound," would be presented, but the management has decided that in view of the Christmas season being so near, it would be better to present a roaring farce entitled "Tons of Money," and give the more serious play later in the season. "Tons of Money" is one of the funniest plays ever written, and cannot fail to be a great attraction, when in these hard times everyone wants cheering up. "The Bride" will also be found to be a very bright entertainment, with a great deal of charm as well.

Salt Spring

Mrs. F. C. Turner, Ganges, was hostess last week to a number of young people at a dinner party in honor of her son, Peter, who was home for a few days from Vancouver. Among those present were the Misses Diana and Denise Crofton, Betty Abbott, Nancy Elliott, Claire Wilson, Lois and Shirley Wilson, and Nora Turner.
Messrs. Graham Shone, Len Nichol,
Jack Smart, George Elliott, Paddy Crofton, Peter Turner and several others. Later in the evening most of the young folks went down to Fulford to attend the Thanksgiving dance in the Institute Hall.

Mrs. D. T. Forbes, C. and J. Forbes and T. Tye of Victoria have returned home after spending several days on Salt Spring, the guests of Mr. and Mrs.
N. W. Wilson at Barnsbury.

A wedding of interest to many on Salt Spring Island took place on Saturday last at the rectory of Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Vancouver, of Miss Ethel Mary Garner, eldest daughter of
O. Garner of Ganges Harbor, to Isak Anderson. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Resini.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ley and son of Victoria are the guests for a week of Mr.
and Mrs. A. B. Cartwright of Per-wood, Nelson, and Salt Spring.
Graham Shone of Powell River has been spending several days on the island the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F.
Crofton.

Professor and Mrs. Golding of Vancouver have returned home after a few days' visit to Colonel and Mrs. Bryant at Fulford.

B. N. Harrison of Vancouver is the guest of Captain and Mrs. V. C. Best at "The Alders," Ganges Harbor.
Peter Turner returned to Vancouver on Tuesday after spending the holiday with his parents, Major F. C. and Mrs. Turner at Ganges.

Miss A. Moffatt and Miss B. Noakes of Victoria have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Crofton at Ganges for a few days.

Mrs. E. Wakelem and child of the Divide are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H.
T. Peter at Ganges Harbor.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

One of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson sermon was, "While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen;
for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal." II Corinthians iv 18.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion. An emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"MONTE CARLO" IS FEATURE AT THE CAPITOL

Jack Buchanan Plays Leading Role in Romantic Picture of Famous Gambling Resort

Jack Buchanan is the newest recruit to the Hollywood talking screen from the realm of stage musical shows. He is to be seen and heard soon in his first production for Paramount, in the role of the romantic count, in the Ernest Lubitsch-directed "Monte Carlo," which opens a three-day run to-day at the Capitol Theatre. Buchanan was born in Glasgow, Scotland, a few more than thirty years ago. His stage debut was made at the Grand Theatre in Glasgow, in 1912, and his first London appearance was in 1917, at the Apollo Theatre, where he scored an immediate success. He made his American debut in 1924 with Beatrice Lillie and Gertrude Lawrence in the first Charles' Revue and two years later returned in a subsequent engagement of the Charles' extravaganza, "Wake Up and Dream," as his next Broadway vehicle. Buchanan's success has been built upon his genius as a dancer, his talent as a singer and his engaging presence as a leading man and a comedian. Several years ago he was in Hollywood appearing as a star in silent pictures for First National and Warner Brothers.

popular singer, who has returned to Victoria with the Dumbells' latest revue, "Come Eleven," which will show at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night and to-morrow night, commencing at 8:30 o'clock, with a matinee performance to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

YOUNG PEOPLE COMPLETE BIG MEETING HERE

A.Y.P.A. Delegates From All Over Province at Annual Conference

With church services, a final discussion on the aims of the association and a farewell social gathering in the Memorial Hall in the evening, the Pacific Coast conference of the Anglican Young People's Association was completed yesterday.

In all, thirty-five representatives from mainland branches and five delegates from Courtenay attended the sessions, at which about 100 members of the local branch were present. Following Holy Communion at St. John's Church at 8 o'clock, the delegates convened at the schoolroom, later attending the divine service at the same church. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick addressed the gathering at the latter speaking on "The Four Watchwords and the Four Gospels."

From 2:30 to 5:30 the conference was reconvened at the Memorial Hall where the different members of the session expressed their opinions on some of the objectives of the association.

A divine service followed at Christ Church Cathedral, when the Venerable Archdeacon Laycock gave the address.

From 9 to 10:30 o'clock in the evening the visitors and local delegates mingled in a social gathering.

BISHOP GIVES ADDRESS
On Saturday evening Rt. Rev. C. de V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, delivered one of the feature addresses of the conference when he spoke to over 100 members on the Lambeth conference. He paid special attention to the findings of the notable gatherings pertaining to the work of the youth of the church.

The new attitude of freedom shown by the youth of to-day had been welcomed rather than condemned by the conference, the Bishop stated. This feature tended to allow the young men and women to approach religious questions with an unbiased mind and encouraged initiative such as had never been shown before.

The assembled bishops had realized that the church had failed to maintain the confidence of youth under its old systems and had recognized the necessity of changing its approach in order to secure the vital co-operation of young people.

In closing he invited the young men and women gathered to stand for office in the various churches of the province, pointing out that if they gained places on the different councils they would have an active part to play in the management of the different denominations.

The address was given at a banquet in the Memorial Hall, at which Stanley Hawkins, president of the Victoria and District A.Y.P.A., presided. He extended a welcome to the delegates, particularly those from Vancouver, New Westminster and Courtenay, and later read a telegram received from H. E. Mole, general secretary of the Dominion A.Y.P.A., containing the heartiest of greetings from the Dominion executive.

Halford Wilson, president of the Vancouver local council, and W. Nelson, vice-president of the New Westminster local council, replied to the greetings by expressing the extreme pleasure felt by the visitors at being on such an occasion.

At the close of Bishop Schofield's address, B. Drew, past president of the Vancouver Local Council, moved a vote of thanks to the Bishop of Columbia, through whose efforts the subject of youth was brought to the attention of the Lambeth conference.

Following the banquet a social and dance took place under the convener-ship of Jack Ayward.

D. MACLEAN DIES AT COQUITLAM

New Westminster, Nov. 17.—More than half a century ago Donald MacLean was logging off the down town business section of Vancouver and was offered the site of the present Vancouver Hotel for $1 an acre on a logging contract.

Last Saturday the seventy-five-year-old pioneer died at his home in Port Coquitlam. He is survived by a widow and four daughters and one brother, Alexander MacLean, Vancouver.

Donald MacLean was born in Bellingham and came to British Columbia at the age of five and lived from then on in the lower mainland district of British Columbia. He was often described as the founder of Port Coquitlam.

CONFERENCES TO BE HELD AT OTTAWA

With Ministers Returning From London, Provincial Questions Come to Fore

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—Two cabinet ministers will return from the Imperial Conference the last of this week—Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, and Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State. Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, will follow later. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is expected to visit Canadian trade commissioners in Europe before he returns. Premier R. B. Bennett will probably be back early in December.

The conference on agriculture opened here to-day will doubtless be followed by several others before the new year. Western provincial premiers will be here this week to discuss with the government guaranteed prices for wheat. The question of development of the St. Lawrence deep waterway, is expected to necessitate further conference with the provinces.

AVIATION CONTROL

The decision of the Supreme Court with respect to control of flying has left uncertainty as to where Dominion authority stops and where provincial authority begins. With the rapid development of aviation in Canada, it is felt in many quarters the Dominion and the provinces should get together and reach an agreement which could be dealt with at the next session of Parliament.

Conferences with Hon. Parker Macleay, Australian Minister of Markets, will be resumed by Mr. Stevens in Ottawa early in December with the object of reaching a new trade agreement with that Dominion. It is not unlikely conferences will also be held with New Zealand representatives. Many government appointments are also pending. In addition to the posts of high commissioner in Great Britain and Canadian minister at Washington, there are lieutenant-governors to be named and one vacancy in the Senate to be filled, and it is expected some changes in the board of directors of the Canadian National Railway will be made.

WILL OPEN POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

Douglas House to Be Name of Provincial Government Institution

Opening of a training school for police, along the lines of the famous Peel House in London, has been decided upon by the Attorney-General's Department. Under the name of

"Douglas House," the institution will from headquarters and a non-committed officer. A thorough grounding in all phases of police work will be provided. Instruction will be given to groups of ten at one time and will be under the supervision of an inspector and court procedure are planned. The curriculum will be an extension of work commenced by the provincial force some time ago. The bill is regaining its popularity in Scotland.

Life Assurance is the Backlog of the Home!

"You know—the timber at the back of the fireplace, against which the lighter fuel is piled and the fire is built—reflecting and increasing the comfort of the blaze—holding and radiating welcome heat when other fuel has been consumed. The backlog is what must first be secured. It remains when everything else disappears.

"That is what the soundest financiers call life assurance—a Backlog! Bonds, mortgages, stocks, savings, building and loan shares—all desirable—but secondary. By life assurance an estate can be created outright. It is unaffected by market fluctuations. It is impregnable. In the Sun Life of Canada, life assurance is not only a sure bulwark against death or disability—it is a profitable form of investment.

"BUY A LOAD" AIMED TO END FARM SLOMP

Grain Men Plan Campaign to Take Wheat Surplus Off Growers' Hands

Inauguration of a "Buy a Load of Wheat" campaign to save the farmers of the prairie provinces from ruin, was proposed here to-day by H. W. Laird, grain grower of Saskatoon and Tete, Saskatchewan, in a message to grain men.

"At a cost of only a few dollars per family, the people of Canada can bring to an immediate end the whole debate on the prairies and force the first step towards a return of prosperity," Mr. Laird said. "There is $50,000,000 bushel surplus of wheat in Canada and there are 10,000,000 people. If each person would buy an average of twenty-five bushels of wheat, the whole wheat surplus would be lifted from overhauling the markets and prices would return to their normal levels, advancing at least fifty cents a bushel. At today's prices of sixty cents a bushel, twenty-five bushels would cost only $15. Each family can feed its load of wheat to chickens, use it as special breakfast foods or stews for a few years' worth of the United States did a few years ago when the cotton farmers were saved from ruin by the 'Buy a Bale of Cotton' campaign.

"By a plan such as this we Canadians ourselves can clean up the whole grain debacle, at only a small temporary sacrifice to each person. It will go on in a big way if each Canadian will do his bit. A few dollars used in this way would be the finest public-spirited investment a person could make to end the depression. Several prominent business men on the Coast have already intimated that they are anxious to take a lead in the move to take the wheat off the hands of the suffering prairie farmers and it is expected that Premier Bennett will give his approval to the campaign on his return."

TRAVEL EXPERT RETURNS SOUTH

Next Year Will See Increased Travel From California, Fogarty Says

Organized Tours Will Swell Tourist Trade Next Summer

Friends from Nanaimo, Duncan and Victoria met in Victoria Saturday to tender a farewell to John Fogarty, San Francisco Travel Bureau official who called at Victoria before returning to his headquarters in San Francisco Sunday on the Ss. Ruth Alexander.

Mr. Fogarty was formerly well-known in musical circles of Vancouver Island as a singer and pianist, his services being in great demand when he was a returned soldier patient at Resthaven Hospital. He is returning south to resume his duties with the travel bureau, and expects to again be in charge of tours in Canada next summer.

Best wishes to Mr. Fogarty were expressed in an apt speech by Harold Stridger, Nanaimo. Replying Mr. Fogarty said, with many pleasant recollections of Victoria and Vancouver, to whom he had first come as a returned soldier, and where later he had enjoyed the hospitality and cordiality which Victorians had extended to wounded soldiers, he was glad to be able to direct tourist travel this way during the summer months.

By next summer he believed the temporary depression which had in a measure lessened tourist travel last summer would be overcome and more Californians would visit Canada, and that any Canadian who was able to direct tourist travel this way during the summer months.

ORGANIZED TOURS

As a new departure in organized tours he mentioned parties of different organizations were being arranged. He anticipated that three tours of the American Legion would result in a thousand tourists for Victoria and Vancouver. He also anticipated that an equal number of Irish residents of San Francisco would travel north on special tours during the summer on "Tipperary" and "Kilmer" tours now being planned.

During the evening songs were given by Mr. Fogarty, Mr. Selfridge and Mrs. Selfridge. Mr. Selfridge gave several eloquent numbers, piano solos were played by Mrs. William O'Shaughnessy and violin solos by W. O'Shaughnessy. Mrs. O'Shaughnessy also played for dancing.

NEW BUILDING FOR SIGHTLESS

Opening Ceremony Will Take Place in Vancouver Wednesday

Vancouver, Nov. 17.—Plans for the opening of the new building of the western division, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, now complete. The board of management cordially invites all who contributed in any way to the success of their campaign for funds in November of last year and all blind persons to be present at the opening of the building, 1101 Broadway West, on Wednesday, November 19, at 3 p.m. The members of the board are anticipating a large attendance on this occasion.

Major C. C. Owen, well-known social worker in Vancouver, will act as chairman. Following his remarks, W. J. Blake Wilson, Jr., chairman of the campaign committee, will speak. Capt. E. A. Baker, general secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Toronto, will outline the chief activities of the institute throughout the Dominion. He will be followed by Mayor W. H. Malkin. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, will officially open the building. He will also present certificates of the Royal Academy of Music to pupils of Miss Grace Kay, who is blind.

Following an inspection of the building, the Women's Auxiliary will serve tea, which has been donated for the purpose. A musical programme is being arranged by Mrs. Thos. Burke, who is herself blind, and who is engaged as teacher of junior grades and music at the Provincial School for the Blind.

The Women's Auxiliary will entertain the blind and their friends at a house warming in the new building early in December.

AUSTRALIANS WATCH BUTTER EXPORT TREND

Shippers Greatly Interested in Duty Collected on Cargoes Landed in B.C.

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters' Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 17.—Australian butter exporters are greatly perturbed at press statements concerning the duties levied on consignments of Australian and New Zealand butter which arrived at Vancouver on board the steamship Acorangi last week. There is a great deal of uncertainty here regarding the relative duties and it is feared New Zealand butter has an advantage.

The causes of the fears of Australian exporters are press reports that Australian butter was assessed for a dumping duty at six and a half cents a pound, and New Zealand butter at eight cents. It is assumed here New Zealand butter is assessed at eight cents plus a special duty not exceeding 60 per cent.

The amended Canadian Customs Tariff Act of last September seems to indicate Australian butter shipped on consignment is subject to a special duty not exceeding 10 per cent, while the price at which the butter will be sold in Canada will be less than the wholesale price ruling in Australia for local consumption.

STOUT DEFENCE OF AMERI- CANS TURN BACK THE MAROONS 1-0

After a one-all tie in the first round, the Quakers saw their hopes vanish when Alex McKinnon, bulky defence-man, injured an ankle and had to leave the game, and Gordon Fraser, who took his place at defence, drew a ten-minute major penalty for injuring Harvey Rockburn, Falcon, defence, bulwark.
Rockburn was cut on the head, but finished the game.

Jimmy Creighton scored the first for the Falcons, and Wally Kilrea got the one Quaker goal in the first period.
In the second period, Eddie Goodfellow, centre, scored for the Falcons, and in the final frame, Larry Aulie, fast Falcon wingman, scored two goals, and Carson Cooper, Falcon sharpshooter, a third.

THE LINE-UP
Detroit—Dolson; Noble, Rockburn, Goodfellow, Filmore, Sorrell. Subs—
Hay, Aulie, McCabe, Ricks, McInenly.

Inenly), 1:03; 5, Detroit, Cooper
(Lewis) 8:55; 5, Detroit, Aulie 18:30.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—In a game featured by fast fights, showers of paper from the crowd and injuries to a Philadelphia player, Toronto Maple Leafs blanked the Quakers 4 to 0 in a National Hockey League fixture here Saturday night.

The fights were between Conacher and MacKinnon, Lowrey and Jackson and Shields, of the Leafs and Horner and Shields, of the Leafs and Quakers respectively; each team drew major penalties for tripping also. A succession of penalties for minor infringements of regulations in the third period brought a shower of paper and a roar of disapproval from the crowd.
The game was featured, too, by the playing of Harvey Jackson, of the Leafs, who assisted in three goals and played well throughout.

Roger Smith, of the Quakers, sustained a fractured jaw when he collided with "Ace" Bailey, of the Leafs.
In the second period
Philadelphia—Miller, MacKinnon, Smith, Milks, Jarvis, Darrah, Sub-
lowery, Drury, Manners, White, Barton, Fraser, Milks, Jarvis, Darrah, Sub-
lowery, Drury, Manners, White, Barton, Toronto—Grant, Clancy, Day, Blair.

CANADIENS WHIP SENATORS
Forum, Montreal, Nov. 17.—Montreal
Canadiens threw their speedy attack into full gear Saturday night, and the rebuilt Ottawa Senators were unable to stand the pace, losing 5 to 1 in the season's first game here.

Moreno, as usual, was the spearhead of the Canadian attack and secured two goals, while Sylvio Mantha, Larochelle and Joliat scored the others.
Bagnagane was Ottawa's lone marksman.

Canadiens—Hainsworth, S. Mantha, Burke, Moreno, Wasmie, Joliat, Sub-lowery, Lepage, Laroche, McCaffrey, C. Mantha, Gagnon, Rivers,

Second period—McCaffrey (2), Gagne, S. Mantha, Leduc.
Third period—None.

SWARMING SCOTTISH AT- TACKS SMASH OUT WIN

MAY GOES OVER
Play swung from one end of the field to the other until Highlanders, on a smashing attack carried the ball to the Wanderers' twenty-five. Ted May picked up from a loose, and after hurdling his tackler, dropped on the ball over the line to give the millions three more points. The kick failed.

At the opening of the second half,
the Wanderers took the offensive. Several times Haines, Pease and Usher combined on dangerous attacks, while Roberts, King and Golby smashed away at the Scots' defence.

The millitamen cleared with a kick
when the Wanderers played feet up, but Roberts broke through again to carry play back to the Highlanders' end.

Five minutes from the start Horne led the Scottish three down on the corner and passed to Henderson. Henderson missed, but picked up and threw to Kinsman who passed to Wenman.
Wenman smashed through for a try.
Again the kick failed.

The Wanderers worked hard and forced the millitamen back into their ground, only to lose out when Bryden sent the play back with a kick.

Roberts and Halpern raced the ball back and after several loose scrums forced the ball over for a safety. The Scots secured from the five yard scrum and cleared.

Several fine offensive attempts brought the troops within an ace of scoring, but the Oak Bay defence held firm.

TRY NOT ALLOWED
On a fast three-quarter play, Kinsman raced for the corner but was tripped. Before the ball was grounded he passed to Horne, who smashed over to touch in goal. The try, however, was disallowed.

Bill Oliver went down in a heavy tackle and was injured. He was taken from the field and the Highlanders played a man short.

Shortly after they opened a scoring bog that sent any hopes the Oak Bay lads might have had away on wings.

Ted May picked up from the loose five yards out and smashed his way over for a try, which went uncon-verted.

A few minutes later, led by the smashing, driving rushes of the millions forwards the Scots' three line swung into action and Horne got across after a pretty run.

Wenman, Bernard, Rowland and the Forbes brothers opened a vicious attack and tore through the opposing defence.

TWO IN ONE MINUTE
Godfrey Wenman smashed his way across to bring the score to 18-0.
A minute later he broke away on a brilliant run and scored the team's final tally. Bruce Forbes converted to make the score stand 23-0.

O. C. Grant refereed and the teams were—Canadian Scottish—Bryden, Kins-lock with Montreal English Saturday.

man, Henderson, Horne, Kennedy, Oliver, Pollard, Normington, May, Wharton, Bruce Forbes, Campbell Forbes, Bernard, Rowland and Wenman.
Wanderers—Parfitt, Usher, Pease, Putnam, Hopewell, Symons, Haines, Roberts, King, Hicks, Good, Douglas,
De Blaquiere, Jones and Golby.

INTERMEDIATE SCOTS WIN
Achieving their triumph of the season, the Intermediate Scottish scored their first win of the year against the second team Wanderers in the preliminary fixture at the same grounds.
The Scots showed great improvement over their previous exhibitions and fought all the way for their victory.
Lees scored the only try of the match.

The slippery field and greasy ball made it hard for the fleet-footed Oak Bay team to show to its best advantage.

Cyril Jones refereed. The teams follow:
College—McInnes, Mabee, Miller,
Boorman, Copeland, Bapty, Moyes, Robinson, Colgate, Crothall, Walton, Patterson, Sprinkling, Wilson and Siviers.

J.B.A.A.—Dowell, A. Osman, Tobin, Parrott, Brown, Murray, Rush, Stephen, George, D'Arcy, J. Osman, Dunn Way, Peard and Lemm.

COLLEGE HARD PRESSED
Repeating their threat of the league opener, J.B.A.A. intermediates forced the title-holding College rugger alls the way to gain an 8-5 victory at Victoria High School grounds.

Playing at full strength, the team smashed away at the Craigdarroch fifteen which failed to show its usual brilliance and only managed to limp through to victory.

Moyes and Copeland scored for the blue-and-gold squad, while McInnes converted one try to give them their edge.

Jack Dunn accounted for the Bays' line tally, which was also converted.
H. S. Hurn refereed. The teams follow:
Canadian Scottish—Byrne, May, Christy, Buxton, Darbyshire, Lee, Hen-lien, Blythe, Quinn, Parker, Forber, Hills, Murray, Brookbank, Hall and Lund.

Wanderers—Cox, Williams, McCon-nan, Thornberry, Boorman, Crombie, Hayward, Stewart, McGregor, Brake, Campbell, Ackland, Sharp, Dickinson, Greenhalgh and Pangman.

Gene Sarazen And
Charles Lacy Will Perform at Seattle

Seattle, Nov. 17.—Golf is here again in spite of the wintry gusts of snow and rain.

Next Wednesday golf fans will get a look at two of the best professional mashie welders in the business.

Gene Sarazen, the stocky little New York Italian, who has won everything worth while in golf prizes in the United States, and Charles Lacy, "the Valley, N.J., links newest professional sensation, are scheduled to come to Seattle for a four-ball exhibition against Frank Rogers and Ralph Whaley, two northwest stars.

Sarazen and Lacy will compete in the Oregon open championship next weekend and then journey to California for the big winter southern tournaments.

Second Round Is Played in Foursome
Event at Oak Bay

The second round in the annual Calcutta foursomes at the Victoria Golf Club has been completed after a number of interesting matches.

Complete results follow:
W. P. Unsworth and Dr. Garesche defeated W. Pemberton and Dr. Plaskett, 4 and 3.
R. A. Burton and H. A. Tomalin defeated A. Watson and Col. Lightbody, 24 and 1.

K. C. Allen and Ray Castle defeated
A. Musgrave and J. W. Morris, 2 and 1.
Des Barrett and R. G. Christy defeated Don Campbell and J. Mc-Loughlin, 6 and 5.

J. R. Matson and L. deS. Duke defeated R. Feeney and Carew Martin, 24 and 1.

A. H. Ford and D. A. Harg defeated
H. J. Davis and A. D. King, 34 up.

Capt. Merrett and R. W. Gibson defeated W. Haldane and J. Gray, 34
and 3.

L. J. McIntosh and H. E. Beasley defeated R. H. Snape and M. P. Forri, 34 and 3.

Glance Bay, N.S., Nov. 17.—Seventy minutes of gruelling play failed to determine the 1930 holders of the Mactier Challenge Cup, as Caledonia, last year's winner, of the trophy, demolished off-the Eastern Canada English football championship, battered to a 3-3 deadlock.

He illustrated his talk with a number of working plans and illustrations. Technical problems of the more advanced students were dealt with in a discussion under the leadership of Flight Lieutenant Harold Rose. After the business and flight part of the meeting was finished the flight adjourned to the construction and assembly room, where Flight-Lieutenant James Haggart gave an hour's instruction in model construction. After the lecture some of the students' specimens were tried out and found to be very satisfactory. The squadron leader then gave a short theoretical description of propeller types and uses.

Nurseman Pioneer Dies at Ripe Age

Andrew Ohlson, pioneer nurserman and proprietor of the Oaklands Nurseries, passed away at his home, 1580 Hillside Avenue, Saturday afternoon after a brief illness, aged eighty-four years. A native of Sweden, where he was born in 1846, Mr. Ohlson came to Victoria in 1875, attracted by the temperate climate, and commenced his nurseries, being one of the pioneers of the business in this province.

Mr. Ohlson at one time held the position of inspector of fruit for the Provincial Government, in which capacity he traveled many parts of British Columbia. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Fred Rollin, of Port Alberni.

The remains are resting at the Thompson and Pettiford Funeral Home. The funeral service will take place at the family residence to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, after which the remains will be taken to Vancouver for cremation.

OBITUARY

Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunn will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

RHODES SPEAKS
Vancouver, Nov. 17.—(N.P.)—Rhodes was the theme of an address delivered to-day by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Federal Minister of Fisheries, before the Vancouver Canadian Club.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce will seek the withdrawal of shipping companies' protests against the use of Victoria harbor as a seaplane base and will fight to the utmost the move to hamper the growing air industry here in a final endeavor to bring the Pacific International Airways' base to Victoria. It was decided at the directors' meeting to-day. The matter was brought up by R. H. B. Ker, chairman of the aviation committee, who reported on the interview his group and delegates from the City Council had had with Hon. Alfred Durand, Federal Minister of Marine, during his visit here.

A committee from the chamber as well as a delegation from the City Council waited upon Mr. Durand during his stay in Victoria. Although opposed to the seaplane base at the start of the interview, the minister ended it with an open mind and informed the committee he would take the matter up with his own department and that of aviation on his return to Ottawa.

Edward Lowe Jr. of the Pacific International Airways was still open to the suggestion of establishing his headquarters here if he could go ahead with his work immediately, Mr. Ker said.

HAVE TWO WEEKS' TIME
If the chamber secured permission from the Federal Government for the Victoria base within the next two weeks he thought the base might be built here.

THE RESOLUTION
In view of the fact he submitted the following resolution: "Whereas, Pacific International Airways Limited, through its president, Edward Lowe Jr., has agreed with the city of Victoria to lease waterfront property at the foot of the Erie Street, subject to the granting of foreshore rights by the Dominion Government, for the purpose of establishing a seaplane base with hangar, workshops, etc., to carry on seaplane and flying-boat services to and from Victoria harbor; and whereas, the city of Victoria has approved by the Department of Civil Aviation at Ottawa on August 7, 1929, after having been approved by the Department of Marine at Ottawa;

"And whereas, it was found that under section 25 Air Regulations, the full responsibility in case of accident occurring between aircraft and watercraft in Victoria harbor would be placed on the watercraft, and therefore the local agent of the Department of Marine refused consent, and local officials of the C.P.R. Coast Service, and of the C.N.E.S. lodged objections on behalf of their companies; and whereas after negotiations and discussion it was decided by a special joint meeting of the Port Development and Aviation Committees of the Chamber of Commerce on August 19, 1930, by motion made by Capt. N. S. G. of the C.P.R. and seconded by Alderman W. T. Strath and carried unanimously:

"That a communication be forwarded to the Dominion Government recommending the preparation and adoption of special regulations to govern shipping and hydroplanes entering or departing from the port of Victoria, which resolution was endorsed at a subsequent meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce; and whereas, in spite of this understanding accepted by the Air Company and presumably acceptable to the transportation companies, it has been announced that the matter is in the hands of the two companies for settlement on behalf of their companies with the Department of Marine in Ottawa, which officials have apparently definite objections to the use of Victoria harbor by aircraft in spite of the declarations of all and every professional flying instructor accepted by the Air Department in Ottawa, and other persons, who have reviewed the situation that Victoria harbor is suitable for commercial aircraft, and is the only suitable air base for the purpose in or near the city of Victoria;

"And whereas, Pacific International Airways Limited must be granted the foreshore rights to the property applied for without further delay, otherwise they will establish their headquarters elsewhere, thus depriving the city of Victoria of an immediate expenditure of upwards of $120,000 and a payroll of upwards of first twelve or fourteen families, and later liable to considerable increase;

"Therefore be it resolved that communication be sent to the presidents of both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways asking them to cause immediate withdrawal of objections by their respective companies, subject to the passing of suitable air regulations applying specifically to Victoria harbor, and that they cause the Minister of Marine to be so informed on their behalf."

Mr. Ker pointed out that it appeared transportation companies had brought pressure to bear on the government and had secured the withdrawal of permission for a base here.

MAKE REQUEST STRONG
"I think we should make our request as strong as possible and should fight against those interests which are obstructing the development of Victoria in aviation," he said.

The Pacific International Airways had unlimited capital for flying purposes, Mr. Ker said.

There was no reason for the bucking attitude, he added.

The resolution carried, copies of it will be sent to all parties concerned.

MANAGER OF BANFF HOTEL VISITS HERE

A. H. Devenish, manager of the Banff Springs Hotel, reached the city yesterday afternoon from the mainland, accompanied by Mrs. Devenish. Whistler here for the next few days they will make their headquarters at the Empress Hotel.

SHERIFF'S MEN ENTER ROOM 3
Armed with a warrant from Judge Lampman, sheriff's men at the end of the week entered room No. 3 at the Balmoral Hotel, in which George Powles, manager, testified a guest had locked himself, never going out or answering calls, and having paid $25 rent for his room for more than nine months.

The sheriff's men found the man, who had been registered as Hugh Hargrave, when he first came to the hotel many months ago, in the room and apparently well. His wife was there looking after him, going out and bringing in the food.

The non-paying guest and his wife were given until Tuesday to leave the hotel before forceful police measures were taken.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)
Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—Wheat: The wheat market was decidedly nervous and erratic to-day, although prices were mostly considerably higher than at the close Saturday. The Chicago market, which was much stronger than Winnipeg last week, was again showing strength with their deferred months nearly three cents up from the close Saturday, with the farm board reported as the chief buyer. This brought in broader outside buying into the Winnipeg market and prices here advanced from 3 5/8 to 4 1/2 cents, the December being the strongest month.

Offerings were not particularly heavy after the opening period when there was further liquidation in the deferred months in evidence. While export business over the week was rather insignificant the trade worked a few odd loads here and there, while the pool reported no business received.

The buying here by Chicago and New York interests was the chief feature in the support, with some shorts covering. There were many rumors floating in regard to the pool and these mainly caused the nervousness.

A press report from Toronto stated that the three provincial premiers had been in conference with the bank officials this morning and the general impression in the east was that the central selling agency of the pool would be forced into liquidation unless the Dominion Government came to their assistance.

The loss to the western governments on the guarantee given last winter with respect to the 1929 crop overpayments were estimated unofficially to be from twenty to twenty-five million dollars. The central bank, which is still holding large amounts of 1929 crop. What is going to happen, no one knows, but the general feeling is that should the pool be forced out of business the western governments will have to make good a great deal better with the general public and the foreign importer willing to come in and support the market and fill their requirements.

The cash markets were rather quiet although there was a fair shipping demand for three and four grades, and spreads were unchanged to 1-4 off. On passage supplies increased 5,512,000 bushels. The U.S. visible increased 52,000 bushels and the Canadian visible decreased 5,781,000 bushels.

Liverpool due 3-4 to 1-4 higher based on Winnipeg.

Seven For a Secret

By MARY WEBB

He strode on across the rolling brown of heather and dead bracken and bare wimberries. Plovers mourned softly, always a little withdrawn, and a hawk was present in the air above him for a time, and then was gone. The solitariness of hill and moor in winter is oppressive to some natures. It did not trouble Robert. No voice of shepherd or sheep, no chirp or lark song; only the snow-fled plovers rushing over their rocky beds, the plovers withdrawn like souls in trouble, the hawk silent as a leaf. A man's country. Nothing soft or feminine was there to remind him of Gillian, except one white cloud that trailed softly half across the pale sky and had a spring-like prelude in it—as if it were made of white narcissus or snowdrops, close packed like market bunches of flowers. He would have made Gillian a posey like that, if he had been able to marry her, a posy packed so close with sweetness that you could not tell flower from flower (the subtleties of art were unknown to Robert; if he had known them he would probably have rejected them). He would have tied it firmly with a strong string and encircled it with cut paper, and it would have been so large that both small hands would have had to hold it. And up the church aisle would have marched, gallant as a fairy, until she came to him, waiting there, caring not a pin for anybody. And then he'd have turned right round and given her a look, the look that he had to conquer and deny every time she was near him, and then to one she would have dropped the posy plump at parson's feet.

Robert laughed aloud, and forthwith, being surrounded by so many kindly square miles of loneliness, he began to sing:

"Gillian, Gillian, Gillian Rideout!"

And the plovers, glancing in the light, shimmered him between their silver wings with silver cries and, alighting here and there on bright green patches amid the heather, uplifted their crests and sang gleefully, hearing after the step of the old man in Spring, who sent green fire through the darkest places, and inebriated them with vitality and drove them to love, and gave them for a little while the freedom of the house of life.

And Robert, forgetting that he was only a common shepherd, and that Gillian was away, and that there were young men of position in Silvertown, young men whose blood he longed to shed, uplifted his voice and sang:

"She's lying in the meadow cloud as if it was a bed of flowers.

If she was asleep, I would kiss her. The flowers smell as sweet as a May morning.

And their petals are as white as milk. But her hands are sweeter to kiss and her arms a whiter.

She's like a golden plover running in the black yew-wood. But when I reach out my hands, she minds as she goes wings.

I've a mind to buy a pair of silver shoes. And clip one wing ever so little. So you couldn't fly away from me for ever and ever.

Gillian, Gillian, Lovekin!"

"My 'gus!' he remarked, as he sat down to have his dinner at midday. "It's about time I went to see old Conwy. It is time."

He faced to the east and thought of the Junction as he ate his bread and cheese, and it was borne in upon him that distance counts for very little, states of mind for very much. Isaiah's state of mind, for instance, was more powerful than all the miles between here and Silvertown, between mind, impinging on his own, putting him on his honor and firing his pride, was the only thing that kept him apart from Gillian. Without it, he thought, it would not have taken him long to fetch her home. How many hours to Silvertown, with his stick for company and a song in his heart? And then? Well, he would have her ambition to fight, the longing for the world; and she hankers after things summat' grand. He thought, still, there are surprises in love, rap-tures, agonies, that can wash away ambition like a shell on the shore. If not one wave, then another, the tenth wave, maybe, if not—then another ten. In time, the most land-locked snail must go. But there was always Isaiah. There was Gillian's money. There was the opprobrious word—cowman-shepherd. He turned westwards again. It was the renunciation of fact for dream, and life for poetry. He would set his whole mind on the mastering of this strange thing—poetry—this creature so unlike the creatures he had hitherto mastered and tended—this unbridled creature, mysterious, white, wonderful, the fallow-deer of God. He thought of a fallow-deer, because there was a carving of deer on the high mantelpiece in the "Drovers Arms" at Weeping Cross, so, like the young huntsman in the old legend, he set forth to follow the pale enchanted creature through the whispering forest of life for ever.

CHAPTER X

Trevorn Coed was a typical border village, not quite sure of its nationality, mingled in speech, divided between the white, blue-roofed cottages of Wales and the red-tiled ones of Shropshire. It lay in a hollow of the hills that were round it like a green-clad arm, and a broad shallow river crossed its garden. From far away Robert described the forge cottage with its shed, and as he came up the road he heard the sharp sound of the hammer and saw the sudden temple of sparks within when Gruffydd laid a heavy hand on the bellows. A tall man stood in the open doorway of the forge; Robert's eyes opened on him for a moment, and left him. He was not Gruffydd. He wore a fine great coat, smart leggings, and boots cleaned with blacking instead of dubbin. Some-thing of the moon from Grifas, inna way, as wrote me a letter and wanted me to learn ye in music!"

"Ah, I be, sir," said Robert.

"The two large, rough-hewn personalities look at each other, were aware of each other. The man in the doorway watched them."

"It's the pennillion, tana-dit, the little pennillion as goes well to the strings."

"Ah."

"But you must sing 'em in the Welsh whatever, and I mind you said you have no Welsh, lad?"

"No. But I shanna sing 'em to a harp. I canna play it."

"Oh, the little pennillion is married to the harp," cried Gruffydd. "What would you separate 'em?"

"I shall only sing 'em a bit to myself, like, going to and agen on the farm. And maybe when I'm old I'll write 'em in a book."

"Twenty miles to come. Twenty miles to go," murmured Gruffydd, "to sit in the smiddy cottage and learn a pennillion. But he dunna want to play it, an he dunna want to sing it. What woman's brought this upon you, lad? I see as well as it's the easement of the making of pennillions that you clear for 'em."

"Out of the white ash seven little blue flames."

Not so terrible is the heat. Out of my burning heart seven pennillions. And my heart is eased."

Robert flushed. The stranger laughed outwardly, as if expostulating with emotion. But Gruffydd took no notice of him. Throughout the interview he treated him simply as the cob's attendant, and not at all as a person. To ease his shyness, Robert turned to the stranger and said:

"Far to go?"

"A good step. Nice bit of grazing hereabouts."

"Ah."

"Cheap?"

"Pretty fair. In some of the lost

End plays are always interesting. The following hand has an end play regardless of what suit East opens. The hand was played in a recent duplicate contract match.

Five no trump is top on the hand. The opening that gives the dealer the most trouble is the six of clubs, dummy playing the deuce, West the three spades, the five of king. Declarer returns a small spade, finessing the jack, which holds. Declarer figures he must lose at least one diamond, so leads the four spot from dummy.

West plays the three, declarer finesesses the nine, and, to his surprise, it holds the trick. East discarding the three spades. The five of king is led to dummy's king. The four of hearts is returned, declarer winning with the queen and continuing with the ace of hearts, discarding the five of diamonds from dummy, West following with the jack.

and forgotten places its nigh to be got for the asking."

"Silvertown's a good way off, I suppose."

"A tidy step. It's a good way from our place, and we're twenty mile from it."

"What place 'ud that be?"

"Dysgwifas."

"Dysgwifas, I've heard the name somewhere. Why, surely, that's where Lovekin, the sheep-farmer, lives?"

"Ah, that's my master."

"Good land there."

"Ah, and cheap."

"Thought so. Trust old Lovekin to find a comfortable place and stick to it."

"Dealer yourself?" queried Gruffydd from beneath the cob, as he blacked the newly shod hoof.

"Ah, I do a bit in that line."

"Live or dead stock?" asked Robert.

"Live. Buy to sell agen. Do a bit of 'em as well."

"Come far?"

"Deligely way."

"Good pasture."

"No fault to find with the pasture. Markets—very middling."

"No rails nigh to your place?"

"No."

"That's one thing Master's alius pleased about," said Robert—"being so nigh the Junction."

For the life of him he could not keep down the flush and smile with which he eyed the stranger. He looked at the cob smiling into his beard, and observed to his recording memory that the young chap of Grifas had a girl clear for 'em."

"I've a good mind," said the stranger as he flung himself into the saddle with supple ease, "to pack my traps and come over the border to your place—it grows good sheep."

"And what 'ud the missus say, losening her folks the like of that?" asked Gruffydd, blowing up the fire to finish his interrupted work.

The stranger, half round in the saddle, faced the light of the forge fire. He eyed Gruffydd with a curious look, not exactly shy, not exactly sullen, not quite brutal. He tensanted his face for a moment, then the harsh lines round his mouth slipped into a smile, and the look was gone.

"Missus? I know better than to take 'er name," he said. "A housekeeper's my choice, over the time a working housekeeper, not the aunty-praunty, change-in-the-afternoon sort, and 'The Last Rose of Summer' on the piano. Some one as can keep 'er at it!"

Gruffydd chuckled.

"Do they give you warning pretty frequent?" he asked.

"No. The one I've got I've had for five years, and I don't expect any change."

The declarer now has a fair count on the East hand. He knows the hand originally contained at least four clubs and, when the nine of spades falls from West, he expects to find five spades in the hand. The jack of hearts falling on the ace from West leads declarer to believe that East holds the ten. He therefore decides to squeeze the East hand by playing the ace and king of diamonds. East cannot discard a spade or heart but must let go of the seven and ten of clubs.

Declarer throws the East hand in the lead with a heart, discarding the seven of diamonds from dummy. If East returns a spade, declarer will again put him in with a small club. This play gives the declarer five no trump.

If East should open the deuce of hearts, West following with the king, leads a small diamond, taking the nine spot finesse, East discarding a spade. A spade is returned by declarer, finessing the jack in dummy. Then a small club from dummy, declarer playing the jack, forcing East to win with the ace. East returns a spade which dummy wins with the ace. As West is marked with the queen and a small club is led, declarer winning with the king.

Declarer pulls two rounds of hearts, discarding a heart and a spade in dummy, West following with the ace and jack of hearts. Declarer now throws the West hand in the lead by playing the three of clubs, forcing West to lead a diamond. This play gives the declarer five no trump. West could spoil the declarer's play by playing the queen of clubs on the second lead.

Uncle Wiggly's Snow Man

(Copyright, 1930).

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Be careful to-day, Uncle Wiggly," called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as the rabbit gentleman started hopping from his bungalow early in the morning.

"Why should I be careful?" Mr. Longears wanted to know.

"Because," squeaked Nurse Jane, laughing. "I think it's going to snow."

"Oh, I'm not afraid of those jolly white flakes," answered Uncle Wiggly. "I have on my warm fur coat and I can hop fast, when I see the snow beginning to flutter down, and get home before it covers me."

"Well, do take care of yourself," begged the muskrat-lady housekeeper, and Uncle Wiggly promised that he would. He was going out to look for an adventure and he never knew what would happen at such times.

So Uncle Wiggly hopped over the fields and through the woods, and, all of a sudden, he thought of something nice. It was candy!

Uncle Wiggly hopped to the edge of a snowman's yard, looking for the rabbit Fox. "Hi there, Mr. Snow Man!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "I wish you were alive and would drive the Fox away so he wouldn't bite me!"

Then, as Nurse Jane was telling him, that snow man began to move. Wiggly and he saw the Fox, and the snow man cried: "Hi there, Red Fox! Go back to your den and let this poor rabbit alone!" And then the white man made a hard snowball and threw it at the Fox, banging him on the nose so that the Fox howled and ran.

Uncle Wiggly was as surprised as you are to see a snow man come to life. But in a moment he saw how it was. For out of the house came running the boy and the girl crying:

"Ho, Daddy! Ha, Daddy! Help us make a snow man!" It was the father of the children, coming home, that had driven away the Fox. Daddy was so covered with white flakes that, in the storm, he looked just like a snow man. No wonder Uncle Wiggly was fooled.

Then the rabbit gentleman hopped to his bungalow with the candy for his wife. Daddy helped the boy and girl make a real snow man, and if the school bell will stop ringing long enough for the ear of corn to hear the radio play tag, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's feather broom. CANADIAN CAR PROFITS HIGHER

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Profits of the Canadian Car & Foundry Company for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1930, were $5,247,843, as compared with $3,922,113 for the previous year, according to a report by the company to-day.

"I must not go too near the house where the real children live," thought Uncle Wiggly, twinkling his pink nose as he hopped along. "For they might want me to come in and play with them and I can't."

The reason the rabbit uncle couldn't go in and play with the real children was not that he didn't love them, or because they didn't love him. But he knew if he started playing with them they would get a box of candy for his wife.

So, keeping out of sight in the tall, dried weeds that grow on the road that turned and twisted in front of the house, Uncle Wiggly was hopping along quietly when, all of a sudden, it began to snow hard.

"Hal! Here comes the storm Nurse Jane told me about," said Mr. Longears. And he hopped faster to buy the candy before the snow should get too deep. And as he hopped along he heard the boy and girl shout:

"Dear me! They're coming to catch me to play with them!" whispered Mr. Longears. He looked back and saw through the white flakes the real children running out of the house. But instead of coming after the rabbit the boy and girl began joyfully to shout:

"Oh, it's snowing and now we can make a snow man!"

"Yes, that will be better than catching me, for I am in a hurry this morning," said Mr. Longears and on he hopped through the storm to get the box of candy for his wife.

"Does she like chocolate or bonbons best?" asked the jolly old pussy cat lady who kept the sweet store.

"Both," answered Uncle Wiggly with a laugh. So he got a double box of candy and started to hop back to his bungalow, through the snow which was now falling like feathers out of a soft pillow. "Dear me! I hope I don't get lost!" said Uncle Wiggly. But that's just what happened! The white flakes fell so thickly that Mr. Longears couldn't see where he was going. He never hopped on, first this way and then that, looking for his bungalow, until, all of a sudden, he saw, looming

What Will You Have to Live On in Middle Age, After Your Children Have Grown Up and Left You?—Will You Have Other Interests, and Will You Still Be Friends With Your Husband?

WHAT are you going to have at fifty? A woman said to me the other day that she would hate to go into her fifties empty-handed, as so many women do. "That's the reason women hate age so badly," she went on. "It isn't because we are vain or have any silly yearning to vamp men that makes us cling with both hands to the last fragment of our youth and that causes us to starve ourselves into anemia, trying to attain a boyish figure and that stamps us into the beauty shops and sends us scurrying to the face-lifters."

It's because when we look around at the middle-aged women of our acquaintance we see that they have nothing. They are utterly bankrupt, and that is what drives us into a panic when we vision the same fate looming ahead of us. That is why women dread age more than we do any other calamity on earth. And the curious thing, and the pitiful thing, about it is that the only defence they put up against this awful inevitable doom that they see descending upon them is to rub a little cold cream on their faces and count their calories.

"Consider the history of the average woman. When she is young she is pretty, and life is interesting to her because it is filled with rosy dreams and great expectations. She thinks that everything she desires is going to come to her. The future is full of untold possibilities. Romance waits for her down the road, and she lives in daily and hourly anticipation of her Prince Charming coming along.

"Generally he does come. Most girls fall in love and get married and know for a while, at least, the circling wings and the golden glory, and they have everything because they have romance and the thrill of having their own man and the excitement of building their own nests and starting about the business of life.

"Then the babies come and the next twenty-five years are breathless ones filled with teething and croup and colic and kindergartens and schools and football triumphs and college honors and Mary's debut and Johnny going into business and the children's weddings and their setting up their own homes.

"Then suddenly the woman finds herself sitting alone in the house from which the children have gone, and she realizes that everything that made life worth living for her is gone also. Her beauty and her allure for men is gone. So is her desire to be a fascinator, for men have become just men to her, and mainly uninteresting at that, and she no longer sees them as potential lovers.

"Gone is romance. For marriage strips away all the pink chiffons of illusion and the middle-aged husband and wife know each other for exactly what they are and have come to take each other so completely for granted that there is nothing to be said about it either way. Sometimes, alas, even love has gone and there exists between the husband and wife only a numbing, cold, dead indifference, or a hatred that is a poison in their souls.

"And the children are gone. No more following after toddling little feet. No more filling the cookie jar for hungry school boys and girls. No more planning of parties. No more getting interest and pleasure vicariously through the joyous, excited plans of youngsters. Nothing for her to do that matters. Just empty hands. Empty life. Just emptiness everywhere.

"That's the way it is with so many women at middle age. That is why you see so many peevish, complaining, dissatisfied, restless, neurotic women. That is why so many women at middle age take to doctors and sanatoriums, or join new religions, or get divorced. Did you ever notice how often women in their forties decide that their husbands don't understand them? Or begin to doubt their husband's love because he doesn't talk gooey sweet stuff to them, or they develop nerves or a bad heart or something?

"It is because the poor things haven't anything interesting to do or think about, and because they haven't anything to look forward to in the future. Life has chucked them out of their old job and they haven't anything laid up for a rainy day. They are in the same case as the imprudent people who spend everything they make as they go along and who find themselves penniless when age comes upon them.

"I wonder that young women don't think about this and make some provision for the lean years that are bound to come. I wonder that they don't realize that their beauty is bound to fade and that they must have some substitute to offer for it, when it is gone, and so read and study and keep their minds alert and their interest in the world keen. Nobody notices whether an entertaining and sympathetic woman of forty has lost her complexion or not. We only observe that she is homely when she is dull.

"I wonder why every woman does not realize that her children are bound to grow up and leave her and so why she does not keep up her friendships and her interest in clubs and people so that she may not be left desolate when they are gone. And most of all I wonder why women do not realize that after their children are gone they will have to depend on their husbands for happiness and companionship and so why they do not bend every effort toward cultivating their affections and interest and keeping them in love with them instead of devoting all of their time and attention to their children. Believe me, husbands are a lot better bet than children are.

"After all, life is what we make it, and we women are mighty poor at middle age unless we have laid up something to live on then. And that is why I say I hope I shall not go empty-handed into the fifties."

Mr. Cole is telling the story of his strange disappearance....

WHEN MARIA FOUND THAT THERE WAS NO LEGAL LOOHPHOLE FOR HER TO GET A SLICE OF MY ESTATE, SHE TRIED FOUL MEASURES AND HIRED THOSE "GHOSTS" TO SCARE YOU OFF THESE PREMISES—HOPEING THAT YOU MIGHT GENEROUSLY OFFER HER THE PLACE!

BUT IN SPITE OF HER SCREAMING WAYS I FELT SORRY FOR HER, SO YESTERDAY I SENT HER A TICKET TO GO TO AUSTRALIA—OF COURSE I DIDN'T FEEL SORRY ENOUGH TO MAKE IT A ROUND TRIP TICKET!

FATHER, WHY DID YOU WRECK THAT EXPENSIVE CAR ON THAT BRIDGE THAT WAS EXTRAVAGANT!

SON, A MOVIE COMPANY PAID ME FOR DOING THAT SCENE AND MY CAR WAS COVERED BY INSURANCE! I MADE MONEY!

GOODNESS, BLACKIE, EVERYTHING MR. COLE TOUCHES PRODUCES MONEY—WHY NOT GET OUT YOUR SUIT AND HAVE HIM PUT HIS HAND IN EACH POCKET!

Mutt and Jeff

TEACHER SAYS CICEO HAS BEEN DROPPED ANOTHER CLASS. AT THAT RATE HE WILL SOON GRADUATE AT THE WRONG END OF THE SCHOOL!

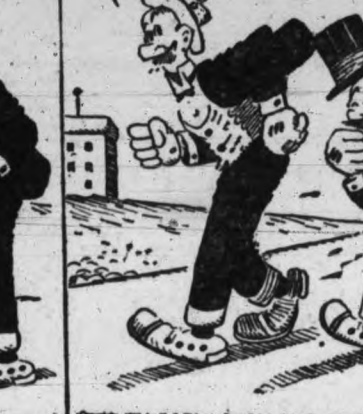

STOP WORRYING! SOME OF OUR BRIGHTEST MEN HAVE BEEN DUMB BOYS!

THERE'S SOMETHING IN THAT—AS THE OLD LADY SAID WHEN SHE SPILLED THE GLUE IN THE SOUP!

NOW TO LOOK AT ME YOU WOULDN'T THINK I WAS A DUMB BOY ONCE—

I WOULD!

THAT'S MY STATEMENT—AND IT GOES UNTIL HE CATCHES ME!

The Gumps

I THIS—AND I THAT—RAVE ON—

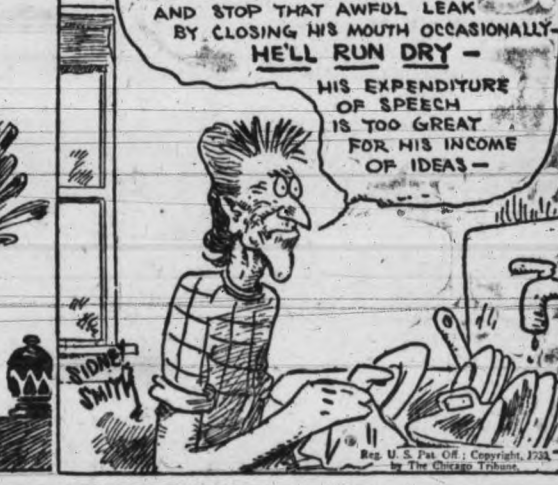

BUT THAT'S WHAT HE DID—HE LIVED—TO TELL THE TALE—

AND NOW HE WILL TELL IT—ON COLD WINTER NIGHTS WHEN THE FAMILY ARE GATHERED ROUND THE FIRE SIDE HE WILL TELL IT TO HIS CHILDREN—AND IF HE LIVES LONG ENOUGH—TO THEIR CHILDREN—AND HIS CHILDREN'S CHILDREN'S CHILDREN—IF HE STILL LIVES—

HE'D BETTER CONSERVE SOME OF IT—AND STOP THAT AWFUL LEAK BY CLOSING HIS MOUTH OCCASIONALLY—HE'LL RUN DRY—

Bringing Up Father

I'M SORRY I WAS LATE, SIR—BUT YOUR WIFE HAD THE CAR OUT AN EVERY TIME SHE DRIVES—SHE WRECKS IT—YOU SHOULD SPEAK TO HER—SIR—

I SEE YOU CAME DOWN IN YOUR CAR—YOU MUST HAVE BEEN HELD UP.

OH—THAT CAR GIVES ME A LOT OF TROUBLE.

YOU SHOULD HAVE A CAR LIKE MINE—IN TWO YEARS—I HAVEN'T PAID A DIME FOR REPAIRS ON MY CAR.

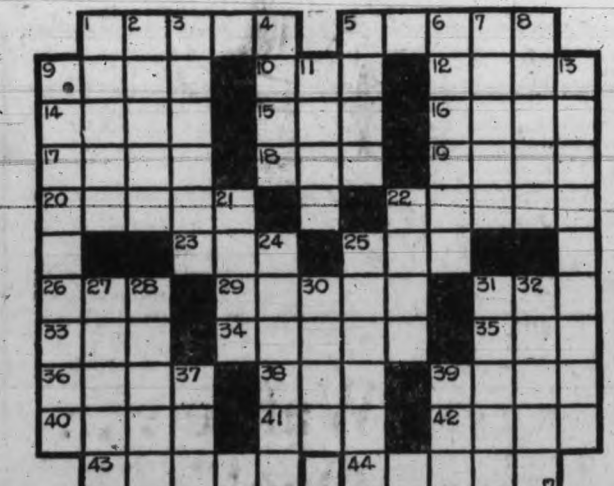

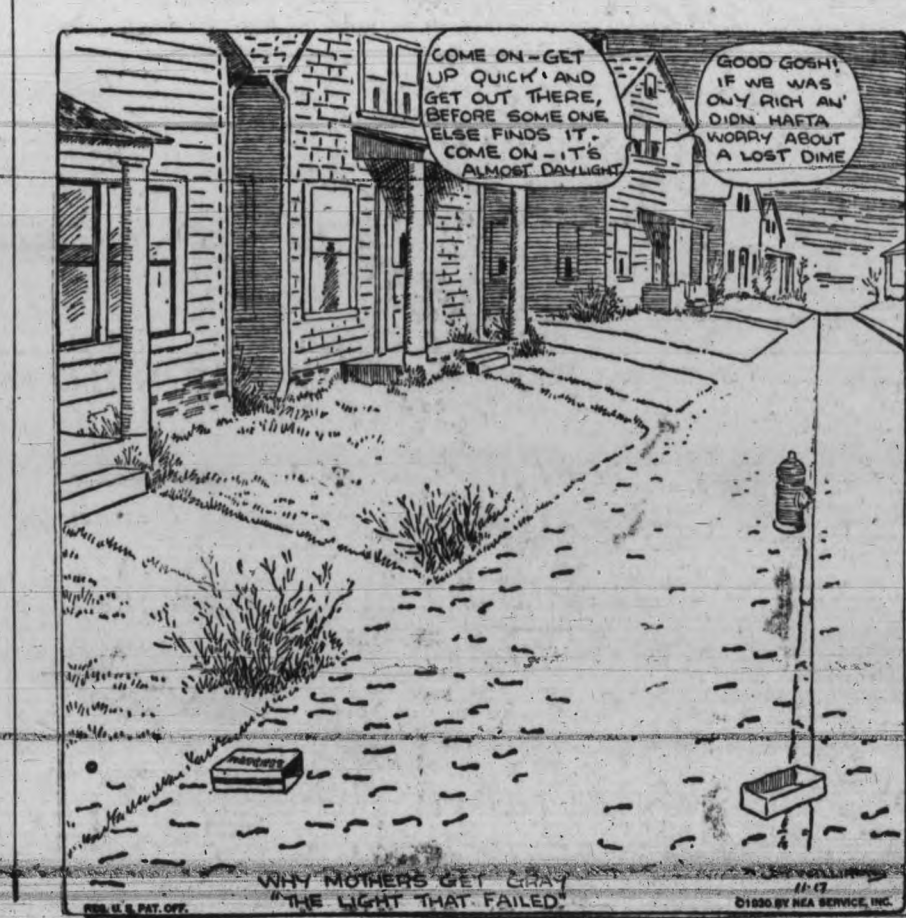

I KNOW THAT!
